Party ends for Firemen

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

The Annual Antioch Fireman's Dance is no more. For over 85 years the dance has been the only fund raising event held by the Antioch Firefighters Association. However, it seemed there was more alcohol consumption than dancing in recent years.

"It does not promote the image we want," said Antioch Fire Captain Rich Frankson. "We have to be a bit more responsible."

Frankson said some of the older fire department members remember when the dance was a social event where families could stop by and visit. "Now, older residents stay away," explained Frankson.

"It used to be fun," said Frankson. "In the past couple of years it has not been fun."

Mock funeral focus of student assembly

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

Students Against Drunk Driving (SADD) held an assembly at Antioch Community High School for juniors and seniors. With the ACHS prom coming this weekend, the group hoped to focus attention on driving safety.

"It was a kind of continuation from last year's program," said Teacher/Sponsor Heather Nelson. Last year, students witnessed a mock automobile accident. The focus of this year's program was a mock funeral of the accident victims.

"We placed him (Joe Earl - last year's victim) in a casket," said Nelson. "Most of the students from last year's program acted as mourners."

Besides the funeral, SADD showed the video of last year's demonstration. This was important because some of the students may not have been present.

In addition, a senior from Carmel High School spoke to the students about his experience in a car accident. While his particular accident had nothing to do with drugs or alcohol, the accident did occur as a result of "fooling around." A young person had been killed.

"His speech had the biggest impact on the students," said Nelson. See STUDENTS page A10

Hit and run driver changes his story

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

A hit and run driver was apprehended by the Antioch Police Department last week. The driver, William Bischoff, 33, of Antioch, was charged with disorderly conduct, leaving the scene of a personal injury accident, and failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident.

The accident occurred at 9:30 p.m. on Route 83 at the Wisconsin Soo Line tracks. When police arrived at the scene, they found the driver of a 1989 Dodge Daytona with extensive rear-end damage facing southbound in the northbound lane.

"The crossing gate arms for the south bound traffic had been broken through," said Lieutenant Charles Watkins. "At the same time, we received a 911 call from William Bischoff."

When police arrived at Bischoff's house, they found a 1994 Ford Van. Bischoff told police he had been in Wisconsin drinking with an unknown female, who had been driving his van.

Bischoff was brought in for questioning and eventually admitted to being the driver of the van. He told police he was with a male companion and did not see the car ahead of him. He said he panicked and made up the original story.

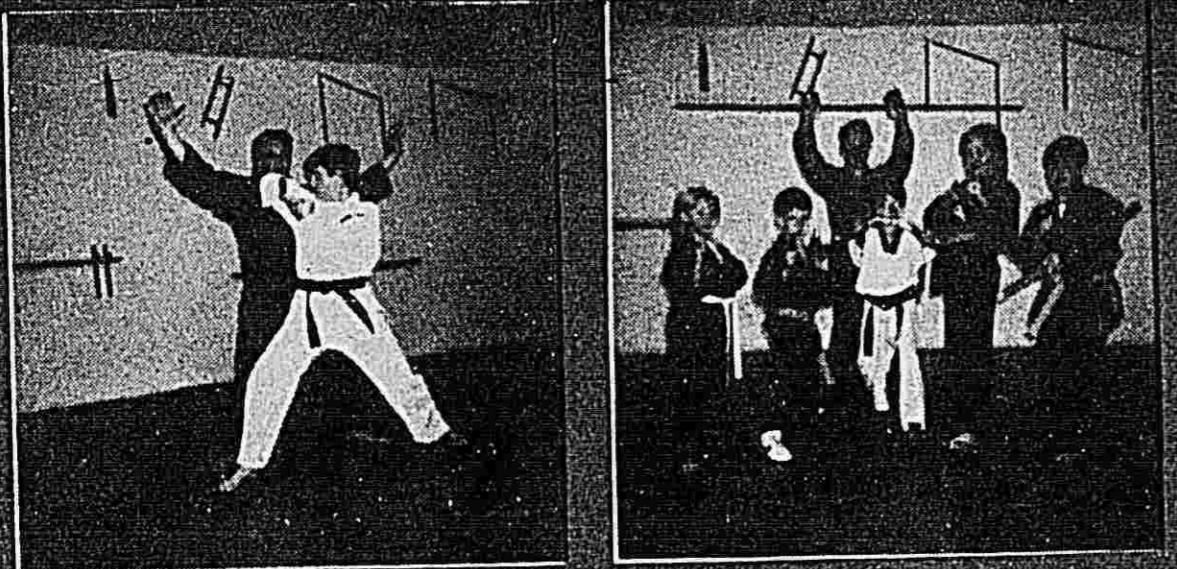

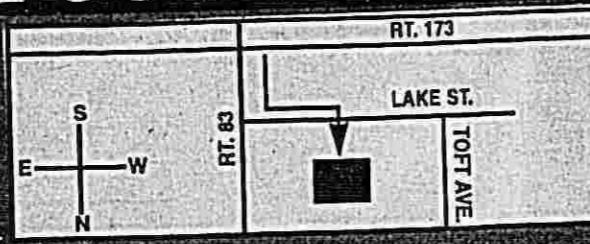

The injured driver was taken to St. Therese Hospital with neck and back injuries. She was released the next day.

According to the young woman, after she was hit her car stalled on the tracks as a train was approaching. Fortunately, she was able to restart the car and get off the tracks before she was hit by the train.

Motivation is believed to originate from good health, thus it is important to keep fit.

If motivation is lost it is usually due to a lack of physical conditioning. Taekwondo is a sport that exercises the entire body including the vital organs, thus giving the student a high level of motivation. High moral standards cannot be reached without a high level of fitness, so a spiritual awakening can't be had.

School bus lane to be established

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

The Antioch Village Board has approved a request from Antioch School District 34 for the creation of a bus drop-off/pick-up lane to be established on Depot Street adjacent to Antioch Lower Grade School.

"This would alleviate some of the problems," Village Administrator Tim Wells told the board. "They are pretty excited about this."

Antioch Lower Grade School has had problems over the years with traffic congestion coming in and out of the school parking lot. Currently, those exiting the lot can only turn right.

"They do not use the parking lot (for bus drop off) because of the automobile traffic," said Wells.

The new bus lane is currently posted no parking. Time zones, allowing buses to pick up and drop off students will be established.

District 34 Superintendent Dan Burke sent a letter to Mayor

Shineflug expressing his appreciation for the work the village has done to help out the situation.

"Obviously, Tim was not obligated in any way to assist us with this project; he simply helped because that is the type of quality individual he is," said Burke in the letter. "Tim constantly seeks the best for Antioch and each of its component parts and, as such, is an exemplary village manager. We are fortunate to have his services."

Liquor license requirements to change

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

The requirements for a Class H liquor license will undergo a change in Antioch. The Antioch Village Board has approved a request to modify the requirements, which would allow smaller restaurants to serve beer and wine.

"It seems to me, it would do well for us to allow existing restaurants to be able to compete with surrounding communities," explained Trustee Marvin Oldenburger.

The ordinance currently requires a minimum seating of 75 people for eligibility for a Class H license. The license is limited to serving beer and wine under specific conditions.

In order to qualify, the restaurant must serve lunch and dinner, no alcohol counter service, only one drink per person can be served before dinner and after, servers must be 19 years of age, and there can be no external advertising of alcoholic beverages. The only change in the law will be to reduce the minimum seating from 75 to 30.

"All we are talking about changing is the minimum seating capacity from 75 to 30," explained Mayor Marilyn Shineflug.

The request for the change came from the new restaurant Szechuan Palace. The restaurant only has seating capacity of 49 patrons.

Board members relied on the advice of new Trustee Taso Maravelas, who has extensive experience in the restaurant business. "I asked how large need a restaurant be to have such a license," said Oldenburger. "Taso said 30."

Trustees sworn in

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

In a brief ceremony Monday night, three trustees took the oath of office. All but one were incumbents.

The first to take the oath was incumbent Trustee Mabel Lou Weber. Weber has been on the board for 16 years and was reelected by a landslide in the last election.

Wayne Foresta, also an incumbent trustee, was next. Foresta, who is also the chairman of Finance Committee, is serving his second term on the board.

New trustee, Taso Maravelas, took the oath of office last. Maravelas, who beat out former trustee Larry Hanson in last month's election has been a resident of Antioch for many years and has extensive experience in the restaurant business.

Retiring Trustee Don Amundsen was on hand for Monday's meeting and received a certificate of appreciation for his years of service on the board.

Taso Maravelas

Amundsen is known for his quick wit and strong stance on various issues.

After the board meeting, coffee and cake were served to welcome the board members.

House ID program presented to students

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

The Antioch Volunteer Rescue Squad is promoting a life saving program to students at area schools. The House Identification Program, which encourages families to post easily viewable house numbers on their homes, will help fire, rescue, and police in the event of an emergency.

Working with the squad is Stan Livermore of the Antioch True Value, the Antioch McDonalds, and the Antioch Burger King. True Value will offer 25 percent off house numbers to students who present cards distributed by the rescue squad during EMS week.

"This is a family program," said Antioch Rescue Squad member Brian Krull. "Kids can take their parents over to True Value," joked Krull.

The cards, which will provide for the discount, will be distributed to students attending local schools. The cards will be punched after the purchase of the appropriate house numbers at True Value, allowing the youngster to receive a free order of McDonald's French fries and a burger from Burger King.

The program will run from May 21 to June 3. If a student's home already has the appropriate numbering, the youngster can still receive the free fries and burger. A parent can verify, during the Antioch Volunteer Rescue Squad open house on May 20, this information and the child will receive a punched card.

"That way, a card can be given to every student," said Krull.

Mayor appoints committees

Mayor Marilyn Shineflug has announced the appointments of the standing committees. Few changes have been made, except for the appointment of Taso Maravelas to chair the Civic Activities Committee.

Trustee Wayne Foresta will chair the Finance Committee again. Trustee Dorothy Larson and newly elected Taso Maravelas were appointed to the committee.

Trustee Marvin Oldenburger will again chair the Planning, Zoning, Building, Industrial and Retail Committee. Trustee Ron Cunningham is also on this committee.

Larson has been selected to chair the Public Works and Parks Committee. Reelected Trustee Mabel Lou Weber is also on this committee. The chair of the Public Safety Committee is Cunningham, with Larson tagged for the committee.

Weber will chair the Utilities Committee which includes Foresta. The Civic Activities, Health, Animal and License committee will be chaired by Maravelas and include Oldenburger.

Memorial to be dedicated, May 29

On May 29, Brigadier General George Oliver Hillard III, Air Force Colonel Ross, Navy Captain Hugh J. McCullum, Senator Adeline Geokaris, State Representative Robert Churchill, State Treasurer Judy Barr-Topinka, as well as local officials will be on hand to help Antioch dedicate the new Veteran's Memorial.

The festivities will begin at 10:30 a.m. and will include music by Antioch Community High School and Antioch Upper Grade School Marching Bands and a host of others to dedicate the new tank. More information should be available soon.

Battle of the Books draws crowd

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

Imagine reading 894 books in 43 days. Well, that is what 221 students did at W. C. Petty in preparation for the Battle of the Books.

Sponsored by the W.C. Petty School PTO with the assistance of the teacher coordinators Lynn Harrison and Sue Stevens, students matched wits against each other to show an amazing knowledge of the books they read. After months of reading and five earlier battles, Tuesday night featured the final four teams.

District 34 Superintendent Dan Burke asked some of the last of the 1,164 questions submitted by students for the competition. In order to create the questions, of course, the students also had to read the books.

The finalists were Team B: Brittany Berman, Kristen Berman, Leslie Burke, Lauren Hungarland, Chrissy Majerowicz;

While all the student participants were winners, Team B took the trophy in the finals.

In addition to the Battle of the Books, the PTO also had a book fair for parents and students. Book characters "Clifford" and "Curious George" were on hand to visit, encouraging students to continue a lifetime of reading.

ANTIOCH Neighbor fed up

On April 29, a neighbor of the Waterfalls Restaurant finally said enough is enough. According to the police report, a neighbor of the popular night spot called the Waterfalls requested the music be turned down. The complainant told police she noted the volume actually seemed to increase instead. When she called police, she insisted in signing a complaint for disorderly conduct. John K. Katris, 45, of Antioch, the owner of the restaurant, was served with a non-traffic citation for disorderly conduct. He was released on his own recognition.

No insurance

Miguel Aleman, 32, of Waukegan was arrested and charged on April 27 with driving without a valid drivers license, speeding, and driving without insurance. Aleman was stopped by police after being observed traveling 50 mph in a 40 mph zone. He was released on bond.

Reckless driver

Joellen Dvoratchek, 30, of Antioch, was arrested and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and driving on a suspended license on April 27. Antioch Police assisted Lake County Sheriff's officers after a report of a reckless driver heading north bound on Route 59 near Beach Grove Road.

Suspended license

Gus Papandreou, 18, of Waukegan was arrested and charged with driving while license suspended and driving an uninsured vehicle on April 27. Police stopped the vehicle when it was observed on Route 173 without a front license plate and heavily tinted side windows. Papandreou was also charged with having obstructed side windows. He was released on bond.

Stephen M. Bell, 36, of Round Lake, was arrested on April 26 for driving on a suspended license. Bell was stopped after police observed him driving a vehicle with no registration plates. He was released on bond.

Sean R. Kelley, 28, of South Chicago Heights, was arrested and charged with driving while license suspended on April 27. He was stopped when he was observed driving with no taillights. He was released on bond.

Busted with beer

Jerry Jarosz, 23, Chicago and Joseph Reiner, 20, of Chicago, on April 27, were arrested for open transportation of alcohol. Jarosz was clocked on radar going 60 mph in a 40 mph zone. The officer found a bottle of open beer in the car.

A Happy Birthday to Neal Pringle, the potato chip man

I'm in trouble

When I told Neal, the man responsible for giving me this "potato chip" name, that I had accepted this column-writing position, his first reaction was "no stories about me." Thus the motto "No Neal Stories" was born—but he never, ever said anything about a headline! I'm sorry dear but the opportunity to publicly humiliate, I mean recognize, you was much to tempting. Besides, like you always say—who really reads this silly old column anyway? So Happy Birthday, dear, and I hope you don't expect a card now too!

Kaboom...to the moon

This slogan has been adopted by the students at Emmons School for their 1995 Space Mission that will be held May 10-11. A big congratulations to Jenna Diemer for coming up with the catchy phrase. Jenna, I hope you don't mind that I have adopted this as my personal motto when confronting my three year old!

Also a big round of applause goes out to Benjamin Korom who is the talent behind the 1995 Space Mission Logo Design. Perhaps NASA could use some of your creativity in updating their antiquated logo.

About the actual Space Mission, the astronauts self-constructed habitats will be radio linked to a Mission Control staffed by classmates. While orbiting around Lake County, the astronauts will be conducting experiments and monitoring their vital signs. Actually they would probably rather try and maneuver their space shuttle through the drive-thru at Taco Bell but that might be a little hard to explain to Mission Control and Superintendent Tabar.

The students at Emmons will be preparing for a press conference on May 12 to comment on their spacy experiences and they are planning a question and answer session for audience participation. I hope Ted Koppel and Murphy Brown aren't there—they think they are big stuff just because they are on TV and will arrive in a limo. Whereas, I on the other hand, have absolutely no official journalism credentials and drive the Pringlemobile. Good luck student astronauts and may the powers be with you!

The old gray mare

One of Antioch's finest will be celebrating her birthday on Sunday, May 7: Jean DeBoer. A lot of you folks around town have the pleasure of knowing Jean, so if you get a few free minutes on Sunday, why not give her a call, her number is in the book.

I won't go and divulge the birthday girl's age, let's leave her some dignity. Let's just say it's that nice decade where you can sit back and let others tend to your needs. It's that reassuring age that, hey, if you don't want to do something you can suddenly be too tired and people will understand. It's that up front age where you can get away with saying "Okay kids, dinners at your house this holiday", and you're off the hook.

It's that comforting age where establishments automatically and "Jingle" here got exclusive coverage! Well a good time was had by all and a special thanks goes out to Photo Joe (i.e. Marie Brausam) for her whirring video camera that captured the event for the happy couple-to-be's wedding mementos.

There were about 30 friends and relatives on hand for the celebration and from all accounts the bride-to-be made out like a bandit. Among the most "useful" presents (now this is a standard on any bride's registry) was a garden hose. Oh what peals of glee must have emitted from that blushing bride-to-be, upon opening that gift. Close your eyes and picture this scene: all the gifts are being displayed in a prestigious part of the house, place settings of fine china, sparkling stemware, silver candlesticks, crystal vases, glistening picture frames and a garden hose. Oh yea that's a picture right out of the pages of Bride magazine. I sure hope Karen notified all her store registries that she received that item, wouldn't want to duplicate that precious commodity.

That thank you note will certainly be a tough cookie to write. How does one go about expressing ones jubilation in words over such an exquisite gift? I bet the anticipation of the wedding gift to follow is more nerve racking than the wedding preparation themselves. I certainly hope Photo Joe zoomed in on that very "useful" gift. The wedding is tomorrow, May 6, and maybe "Jingle" will stop by, sing a few bars and be on my way—it's always a possibility.

It's birthday time

It's Happy Birthday time once again, so for all you May birthday people: Happy Happy! Now last month I was a little disappointed with you, the folks of Antioch. I didn't receive not one call about special birthday bashes that were thrown or any "I-can't-believe-you-got-me-that" presents. So May people be more forthright with the info I have a column to write here.

So let's here three cheers for the May birthday people: Philip Bednar, Dennis Bergl, Joann Bergl, Kenneth Bergl, Kaitlyn Bies, Kelley Brausam, Jeremiah Buss, Megan Cole, Kellie Davis, Jean DeBoer, Jeffrey DeBoer, Robert Edelman, Jody Freeman, Ben Friel, Jenny Hart, Dale Kitto, Dayna Kluth, Brigitte Leonard, Michael Markus, Maureen Marotta.

Frank Nava, Garik Niffenegger, Lisa Olsen, Jeffie Pierce, Tom Pocrich, Lisa Priller, Neal Pringle, Kerri Rognstad, Russ Schaller, Jennifer Schreiber, Ryan Staten, Sarah Struck, A.J. Teaters, Christian Ward, John Webel, Tanner Wilson. Now keep me posted. And so goes another "Jingle for Pringle" ...don't forget to call 395-6364.

April showers bring May weddings

A wedding shower was given for Karen Schmehl by her sisters Donna Bergl and Barbara Filips, and her Maid of Honor Darleen Freitag. All of the festivities took place at the bride-to-be's mom's house, the retired "Lizard" herself. (Gee I wonder who sent me this story?)

I must say I did not attend the function but what a shindig it must have been—even Aunt Mary, who resides in Poland, came to town for the party. Wow!

At Creative Glass Designs on Main, the 'etching' is free

It doesn't matter if you are planning your own wedding or attending a wedding, a visit to Creative Glass Designs in Antioch is a must. For the past three years, Antioch has been home to this fine shop, which specializes in etched (sandblasted) crystals, mirrors, mugs and other gifts. You may choose to have your gift personalized in any way, or left in its natural state. Most people choose to have their gift personalized by having a name, date or special remembrance etched onto their selection. The staff at Creative Glass, Barbara and Christine offer free etching with our selection, saving you the additional expense.

Crystal etched jewelry boxes, bride and groom champagne flutes etched with their names and date of marriage, a wedding invitation etched into a crystal vase, a solid crystal apple etched with a teacher's name and date, coffee mugs personalized any way you'd like—these are just a few gift ideas you'll find at Creative Glass Designs located at 924 Main St. in Antioch.

In today's age of technology, sometimes the personal touch gets left by the wayside. Shopping may turn into a cold, calculating venture which occasionally results in very impersonal gifts. But at Creative Glass they bring the personal touch back into your life. No longer will you need to give a gift that has a "production line" quality about it. Creative Glass enables you to select gifts you may personalize for the occasion. A gift that has been personalized is always a bit special and will be cherished.

Wandering throughout their shop you'll find gifts appropriate for many occasions. Beer mugs are great groomsmen gifts, and you may have them etched with name and date of the wedding. A picture frame for the bride and groom which has their wedding invitation etched into it makes a very special gift. There are many ideas for your wedding or the wedding of a close friend or relative. Gifts for anniversaries, birthdays and special remembrances are easy to select with their personal service and the advantage of personalization Creative Glass offers you.

For business use, you'll find a selection of business incentives and company awards. A decanter and glass set may be engraved with your company's logo, mantel and wall clocks, awards or many other items that are appropriate for business use.

Gazing about their shop you'll find an interesting selection of etched glass panels that are available for doors, or enhance the windows along side your front door, or use for small decorative windows. You may choose etching of wildlife, sports, hobbies or designs. The whole idea is to create a look that's perfect for you and your home.

If you need your selection shipped, Creative Glass Designs will pack and ship your items for a nominal fee. Gift bags are also available for gift wrapping purposes. The staff will help you select a gift and create just the right personalization for the occasion. Let them put their knowledge and experience to work for you.

Bill to restore American dream

You can only imagine our frustrations over the years as the Democratic majority refused to hold hearings or allow floor votes on the legislation we Republicans introduced.

With those unhappy memories in mind, it should be easy for you to imagine how it must have felt to have my bill, the American Dream Restoration Act, passed by the House and sent to the Senate in the first 100 days of the 104th Congress.

As you recall, after promising a tax cut for middle income Americans during his campaign in 1992, President Clinton followed up—after his election—by proposing and gaining approval from a Democratic Congress of the largest tax increase in history. We propose to undo some of the damage inflicted by that increase.

Tax cuts are needed to put money into the hands of taxpayers so they may use it in the manner they prefer and to spur the economy. No economy is assisted by raising taxes.

The continual grab of taxpayers' dollars by governments has resulted in the average American family spending more on taxes than it spends on food, clothing and shelter combined. The American Dream Restoration Act is designed to give relief from the heavy burden of government and let families keep more of their hard-earned dollars.

The bill provides that those paying taxes on income beginning in 1996 will be given a $500 per child tax credit for families with annual incomes up to $200,000. The tax credit will benefit approximately 50 million families, 90 percent of which earn less than $75,000. For purposes of the tax credit, a child is defined as an individual under 18 years of age.

The legislation helps to correct a portion of the huge 1993 Clinton tax package, which resulted in many married couples paying higher taxes than they would if filing as two singles. Our bill provides up to $2 billion annually for relief from this marriage penalty.

Individuals are allowed to contribute up to $2,000 a year into an American Dream Savings Account (ADSA). Spouses who are not employed are also allowed to participate. Thus, a couple can put away $4,000 a year in ADSAs.

The ADSA is what is termed "back-ended," meaning the individual pays income taxes on the amount deposited, but not on the amount withdrawn if used for 1) retirement income; 2) purchase of a first-owner occupied home; 3) education expenses at a post-secondary institution (college or training institution); for self, spouse or dependent child; or 4) medical costs, including purchase of insurance for long-term care.

Within two years of enactment of the American Dream Restoration Act, current IRA participants can cash out their current IRA and pay the tax due on it without having to pay any penalty, provided the money is transferred to an ADSA.

The legislation is now before the Senate and we expect tax relief this year.

Geo-Karis bill aids Illinois adoptions

Biological mothers and fathers could have more clearly outlined responsibilities and rights under legislation sponsored by State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) and passed by the Senate Monday by a vote of 51-0.

Sen. Bill 1140 clarifies that irrevocable consents or surrenders of children cannot be taken until 72 hours after the child's birth, even if the biological mother provides an affidavit of identification before the birth of the child. It further requires the Dept. of Children and Family Services (DCFS) to conduct an informational campaign to make putative fathers aware of the Putative Father Registry. Under current law, notifying a biological father of a proposed adoption is not required unless he is listed in the registry. The bill provides that DCFS cannot reject the registration of a putative father for any reason and stipulates that registry searches must occur within 60 days of the birth of the child.

This bill requires that if a judgment or order for adoption is vacated or a petition for adoption is denied, the court shall promptly conduct a hearing as to the temporary and permanent custody of the minor child who is the subject of the adoption proceeding. The court shall follow the standards set forth in Part VI of the Illinois Marriage and Dissolution of Marriage Act relating to the best interest of the child.

"Adoption is an important process that requires a serious and irrevocable decision by the birth mother," said Geo-Karis. "This legislation attempts to clarify and ease the adoption process for both the biological and adoptive parents."

This legislation also requires the courts to promptly hear visitation cases and to treat them similarly to visitation disputes in cases of divorce by taking into consideration the child's physical, mental, moral and emotional health.

The bill now moves to the House of Representatives for consideration.

EMS open house a community affair

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

In honor of Emergency Medical Services week, a multi-area open house will be held at Antioch Rescue Squad. Community participants include Antioch, Lake Villa, Round Lake, Warren/Newport, Fox Lake, Warren, Wis., and Richmond.

"It will be more than an EMS open house hosted by us," said Brian Krull of the Antioch Volunteer Rescue Squad. "This started as an Antioch Rescue Squad open house, but we decided to expand it this year to include the many departments we often work with."

One of the highlights of the open house will be a mass casualty exercise, although no one will really be transported to the hospital. The rescue departments will simulate a mass accident and visitors will be able to see and ask questions after the exercise. The exercise will include an extraction, a treatment sector and a transportation sector.

"People will be able to talk with the workers after the exercise," exercise," explained Krull. The exercise will be very authentic with ambulances lined up, "victims" being treated in a triage setting, and even, possibly, radio link-ups.

In addition to the casualty exercise, a flight for life helicopter is expected to visit the open house. Also, Patty Cizowski, of the St. Therese outreach program will bring her team of experts to offer blood pressure screening, cholesterol screening, and provide health information.

There will be something for every age at the open house. Video tapes, tours of the equipment, refreshments, tee-shirts, and even coloring books will be available.

"We hope to provide information in an interactive manner," said Krull. "Everyone from the surrounding communities are welcome."

The open house will be held on May 20 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. The Antioch Rescue Squad is located behind the Antioch Fire Department on Orchard Avenue and Holbeck Drive.

Dist. 34 salutes teaching staff

Antioch Elementary School Dist. 34 will observe National Teacher Day on Tuesday, May 9, spotlighting the crucial role teachers play in the lives of individuals and in the community. The day's theme, "Teaching: A Gift For a Lifetime," emphasizes the lasting impact that teachers have in giving direction to young people's lives and in shaping good citizens.

Sue Stevens, president of the Antioch Elementary Assn., notes that despite all the new approaches and technologies sweeping through classrooms these days, the heart of education still comes down to one thing: The daily engagement between teacher and student, and the commitment that teachers bring to their task. On National Teacher Day, communities set aside time to salute the dedication that teachers bring to their job throughout the year.

Daniel Burke, superintendent of Antioch Elementary Schools, noted that "there is no other profession that touches so many people in such a vital way and with such lasting impact. National Teacher Day is a tremendous opportunity for all of us to say thank you to the teachers in our community who make such a profound and positive difference in the lives of the children in this community."

Mailbox Improvement Week arrives

Mailbox Improvement Week, a traditional annual observance that contributes to the appearance of the countryside and streets in suburban areas, is being held May 15 through 20, according to Antioch Postmaster Thomas Prince.

"Mailbox Improvement Week has long served as the starting

No wake in effect on Fox

The Fox Waterway Agency announced late last week, effective immediately, is a no wake to boating traffic between the McHenry Lock and Dam and Algonquin Dam due to high water.

The no wake restriction on that portion of the Fox River will remain in effect until further notice.

signal for special community efforts to repair, repaint and make other improvements in the security and appearance of suburban and rural mailboxes," Prince explained, "and this gives our community another opportunity this spring to promote the security of mail by repairing mailboxes damaged by the weather during the last year."

Mailboxes in good condition contribute to a more efficient delivery and collection operation and improve service to an entire route, according to the postmaster.

Customers must use only approved traditional or contemporary curbside mailboxes for new installations or replacements, according to Prince.

For more information on the use of names or numbers on mail receptacles, supports and answers to any other questions, call the postmaster at 395-0097, or stop by the Antioch Post Office at 405 Orchard, Antioch.

liability insurance have increased over the years. "It got to the point where it wasn't worth it," said Frankson. "We wanted to end it on a positive note."

Of course, the underlying issue is drinking and driving. Frankson said he did not want people to remember the dance was discontinued because of a drinking and driving accident.

Antioch is not the first fire department to discontinue an annual dance. Last year, Grayslake ended a 92-year tradition when they put to rest their dance. Grayslake Fire Chief Don Mobley explained it made no sense to tell people not to "drink and drive 364 days of the year" and then hold the fireman's dance on the 365th.

Frankson said he has heard mixed opinions about the discontinuance. "A lot of the older people and business owners have asked us why we didn't do it (discontinue the dance) sooner," said Frankson. He said a lot of younger residents are disappointed there will not be a "party" this year.

In lieu of the dance, the Antioch Firefighters Association will hold a raffle, pancake breakfast and open house. According to Frankson, over 400 people stopped by the open house last year and he hopes more will attend this year. The Association believes the combination event, which will be held on June 25, will create more of a family atmosphere.

The pancake breakfast will be held at the station from 7 to 11 a.m. Tickets cost $4 for adults, $3 for seniors, $2 for children 6 through 12 years, and free for children 5 and under.

The open house will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Visitors can tour the fire station, the trucks, and watch various demonstrations.

A raffle will also be held on June 25. First prize will be $500, second prize $300, and third prize will be $200. Tickets have been sent out to all residents and additional tickets can be obtained by calling 395-5511.

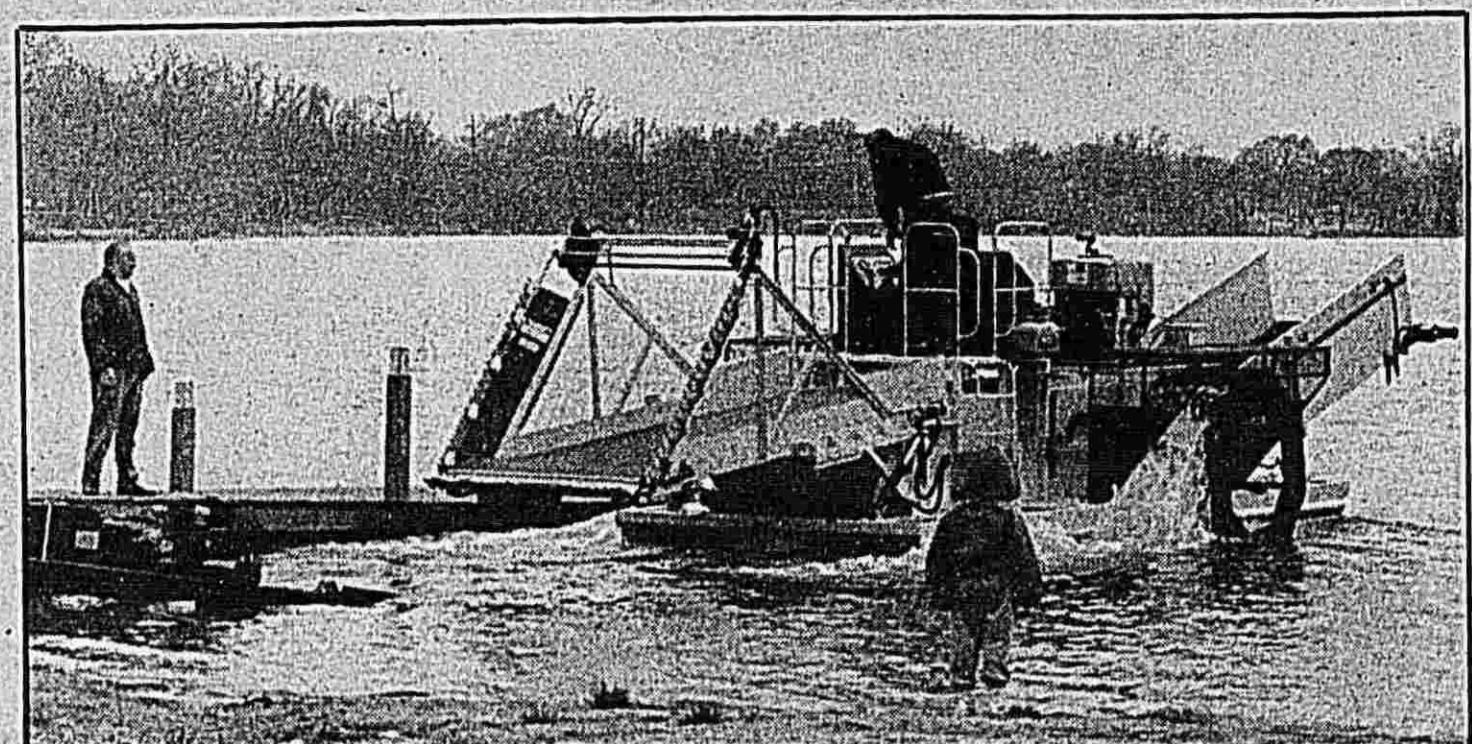

The money raised by these events, along with allocated tax dollars, is used to purchase materials for fire prevention education for the community. Last year, over 3,000 school children were brought to the Antioch fire station to learn about fire prevention.

Younger students learned about 911, checking smoke detectors, escape routes in the home, and fire-fighting gear. Older students were able to watch an actual fire call using a mock house and real fire.

Children are not the only ones that benefited from the community education programs. The department also held special classes geared towards senior citizens, civic organizations, and the general public.

Emmons addition to be dedicated

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

After a year of construction, Emmons School District 33 will be holding a dedication ceremony for the new addition. The new wing will hold 14 classrooms, which should substantially reduce the school's overcrowding problems.

"We've invited a number of people," said Emmons Superintendent Matt Tabar. "We have already received a number of confirmations."

Emmons School celebrated its 150th anniversary last year. On this historical note, the school is proud of the continued community support which made the construction of the addition possible.

While other building and education fund referenda failed to garner voter approval, Emmons was able to pass its building addition referendum.

The dedication will be held on Tuesday, May 9, at 7 p.m. The Emmons School band will perform and Board President Dr. Bruce Dille will make the dedication address.

The dedication is open to the public and Tabar hopes many community members will attend.

Boys remain unbeaten; Rubash breaks record

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Braving the cold, wet and windy conditions, the Antioch boys track team still managed to maintain its undefeated record in conference meets.

The Sequoits defeated Warren 83-63 and outpaced North Chicago 85-51 to keep its 6-0 conference record unblemished. Their overall record is 6-1.

Although Antioch garnered the double victory, Track Coach Norm Hahn said the team was not at its best. Warren and North Chicago were not at their best either. Hahn blamed the weather for the mediocre scores and times.

"I thought it would have been a pretty tough meet," Hahn said. "If it wasn't for the weather, I think we could have had better times."

Regardless, Antioch prevailed.

Highlighting Antioch's efforts was Brad

Rubash, who broke the school record in the 100 hurdles. He tied the old school record set in 1965 last week with a 14.9. Rubash is now the sole owner of the 100 hurdles mark with a 14.7.

"A little wind behind him helped a lot," Hahn said. Rubash also won the 300 intermediate hurdles with a 41 flat.

Kevin Erickson captured the 800- and 1,600-meter runs with times of 2:07.3 and 4:49.9 respectively. Steve Spronk won the one-mile run with a 11:10.1.

Antioch's relay teams were not as dominating as in earlier meets. "That was kind of unusual, but I think I have a couple of kids who have banged-up legs," Hahn noted.

In the field events, Dave Lawrence took firsts in the shot put (43'5") and the discus (134'2.5"). Kevin Fasana won the long jump (20'5"), and Keith Jackson earned the top honors in the high jump (5'10").

Coach Hahn said he will not be sporting a full force at the Lake County Boys Track Invitational May 5 at Stevenson High School. Antioch's prom falls on the same night. Erickson will be the only varsity player representing Antioch.

'A little wind behind him helped a lot.'

—Norm Hahn
Antioch Track Coach

"I'll be taking a lot of freshmen and sophomores and giving them some experience," Hahn said.

Disappointed by the scheduling of the Lake County Invite, Hahn said this year's team showed a lot of promise to walk away with the Lake County title.

"Actually, this could work out great for us because there are a lot of kids who need to rest their legs," Hahn said with optimism.

SPORTSEckenstahler fires no-hitter; WTHS sweeps

Eric Eckenstahler

Staff Reporter

The conference contenders always seem to bring out the best of Antioch Sequoits.

But those sub .500 teams, a no-hitter the night before sometimes is not enough momentum.

Yet another chapter was written in a 12-hour period as the Sequoits knocked off North Suburban Conference baseball contender Stevenson as Eric Eckenstahler threw a no-hitter but the Sequoits turned around the next day and lost twice to Warren High.

"His forkball was working well for him," Kevin Eckenstahler, Eric's brother and catcher, said of the win over Stevenson.

The 6-0 Friday win in Lincolnshire temporary halted the Patriots' challenge of Libertyville as league leaders.

"It was just the overall team effort. We hit the ball well and had great defense," Eric Eckenstahler said. "My objective was to keep the hitters off balance."

Eckenstahler, an all-conference basketball player, fanned 9 and walked only one as he collected his third win in four decisions.

Mark Peterson led the way offensively against Jeff Grund with a 2-of-3 day with 3 RBIs and a key 2-run double in the fourth.

"Eric did a super job. He had 18 days off because of a lung infection. He had pitched in relief for a couple of innings against Fenton last week and looked pretty good. Against Stevenson, if you did not know he had been sick, you could not tell," Antioch Coach Paul Petty said.

Eckenstahler acknowledged the impact of his brother-catcher.

"He knows what I throw and he calls a great game. I feel confident - he can block pitches and throw guys out at second base," Eric said.

Saturday in Gurnee was a different story as the Sequoits fell further in the NSC race to 2-6 with 11-1 and 13-0 losses to Warren. The losses were in 5 and 6 innings. The victories gave Warren a 4-0 week and a .500 record, 8-8.

"I have been trying to figure it out all year. We play the tough teams tough but then we come out and play like goats," Petty said.

Antioch had its chances in the second game early. The Sequoits loaded the bases in the second inning, but could not score to dent a 3-0 Warren lead. Warren added 10 more runs after that, including a grand-slam home run.

Antioch is scheduled to host Round Lake in a non-conference game May 8.

Girls win Woodstock Invite, nip Warren at home meet

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

"Chalk us up for a first place for the second year in a row," exclaimed Cathy Kelly, Antioch girls track coach.

Antioch nipped Rockford Auburn High School by one point, 81-80, at the 12-team Woodstock Invitational to capture first place.

"Woodstock was definitely a wonderful surprise, and it was a team effort," Kelly said.

Rockford managed five first places, while Antioch garnered three firsts, but the Sequoits went on to score in 13 out of 17 events. Antioch scored in the field events, but Rockford Auburn did not.

Unknowingly at the time, Chrissy Hammer proved to be the heroine at Woodstock. Hammer happened to be 50 yards behind in the final leg of the 1600-meter relay, but she pushed ahead and moved the team from a comfortable fifth place to fourth place.

"She didn't settle for fifth place. She wanted fourth," Kelly said of Hammer. "That ended up being the reason why we won the meet."

Long-distance runner Megan Durney continues to shorten her time and she set both a Woodstock Invite record and an Antioch record in the two-mile run with a time of 11:42.8. Her previous best this year was an 11:47.7, and a time of 11:41 qualifies for state.

"She just keeps pushing and pushing. She knows how to pace herself," Kelly said. "In fact, she gradually gets one second faster with each lap she runs."

Durney needs to shave about 1.8 seconds to qualify for state. She also took first in the one-mile run at Woodstock.

High jump specialist Tricia Keefe led the 12-team pack in the high jump (5'1") to complete Antioch's first place honors at Woodstock.

Three days later, the Lady Sequoits won another nail biter. This time, it was a conference home meet against Warren and North Chicago. Antioch edged Warren 69-64 and outpaced North Chicago 107-21.

"We did wonderful again. Warren is tough, but we had enough depth to pull it out," Kelly said. "It came down to the last relay."

The deciding event was the 3,200-meter relay led by Durney, Beth Lennon, Jenny Cardis and Christina Barbic. The winning foursome finished with a 11:10.8.

"We passed them (Warren) on the straight away. Warren ended up getting DQed (disqualified), but our kids didn't know it at the time," Kelly noted.

Barbic, a freshman who refers to herself as the "Mouse," took first in the 3,200-meter run. She crossed the finish line in 13:11.8.

"She's just a wonderful young lady who really comes through when you need her to," Kelly said.

Keefe snatched three more first place honors in the 100 hurdles (16.3), in the long jump (16'6.25") and in the high jump (4'6"). Durney captured firsts in the mile (5:48.5) and the 800-meter run (2:37.1). Hammer finished first in the 400-yard dash (2:37.1).

Hammer, Cardis, Jamie Ryan and Rheanna Steinburg teamed up for a first in the 1,600-meter relay to round off Antioch's top finishes at the home meet Monday.

The Sequoits now look forward to the Conference Invitational at Fenton Thursday. Regional seeding was also expected to be announced this week.

Lindenhurst Stars, Power, Turbos gain wins

Stars

The girls under 14 Lindenhurst Stars soccer team opened their season last week with a 1-0 win over the Wheaton Wings Gold.

Scoring the lone goal for the Stars was Sarah Rimkus, assisted by Samie Korbal.

The Lindenhurst Stars then traveled to Naperville and came home with a very impressive 6-0 victory.

Leading the Stars was Mandy Fasano with three goals, and Amie Carlberg, Megs Kotlaz and Rimkus each with one goal.

Korbal led with three assists; Katie Gofron and Christy Reese each had two assists.

The defense kept the Naperville Rangers offense off balance all day, allowing only one shot on goal the entire game. The defense was led by Cheri Case, Kotlaz, Susan Gosciniak, Amie Smit, Natalie Richter, Becky Sosnowski and goalie Megan Rinkenberg.

Power

The Lindenhurst Power went on the road and returned with a 3-0 win over the Arlington Aces.

The first Power goal came on a penalty kick which was awarded when Jourdan Phillips was fouled on a breakaway attempt. Jamie Wismer converted on the PK.

Sarah Richardson scored the second goal, with the assist going to Kristen Hungarland, when she put a high arching shot over the outstretched arms of the Aces' goalie.

Teri LaRoche finished the scoring when she was able to break through off a pass from Kristina Giangiorgi.

Strong defensive play from Katie Anderson, Kristen Gamlin, Phillips, Jenny Porter and Cara Robinson helped to shut down the Arlington attack. Jenny Barbera and Giangiorgi combined to make eight saves to earn the shutout.

Turbos

The Lindenhurst Boys' U-12 Turbos scored their first win of the season in a game against the Mt. Prospect Green and White Wildcats.

The Turbos, led by defenders Sean Beaudry, Steve Coletti and Michael Marchetti, controlled the first half of play, preventing the Wildcats from taking a single shot on goal.

Late in the half, Matt Peterson knocked in the only goal of the game on a pass from Adam Schuster. Schuster took another shot minutes later, which was blocked by the Wildcats goalie.

The second half was a different ball game, with the Wildcats taking advantage of a number of opportunities to shoot. Keeper Donny Pearson stayed tough in goal, stopping half a dozen hard shots, shutting out the Wildcats.

Rockets

The Lindenhurst Rockets suffered their second loss of the season falling to Elgin by a score of 2-1.

The Rockets were trailing 2-0 at half-time. Kristina Gopp scored the Rockets' only goal midway through the second half. Her goal was unassisted.

The Rockets kept the pressure on the Elgin defense in the closing minutes but were unable to score.

Royal Eagles

The Lindenhurst U-11 Boys Royal Eagles were on the road again in Glendale Heights. They took on the America Eagles and lost 0-2.

The Royal Eagles had many scoring opportunities but could not find the mark. The American Eagles outplayed Lindenhurst on almost every possession, but at the half, the score was 0-0.

The Royal Eagles came out firing again in the second half, but with the players sliding all over the place, no one could get a foot on it.

On goal, Adam Jordan had 11 saves and a lot of mud sliding misdirected kicks to contend with.

Other standouts included Kaleb Barrett, Kevin Beauday, Matt Boller, Erik Carlberg, Christian Chebny, Brian Halvey, Ramesh Kumar, Raymond Norton, Adam Placko, Brian Walsh and Tommy Woodruff.

Volleyball champs

St. Peter's eighth-grade boys volleyball team captured the Fox Valley Catholic Conference Championship with a 7-1 season. The team also took the conference tournament. Team members include Phillip Delany, Chris Elbl, Nick Freeman, Joe Fusz, Eric Hansen, Brian Johnson, Michael Miller, Michael Osmond, George Glitzen, Jarrod Lewis, and Andy Schaefer. Team is coached by Gary Miller and Mary Schaefer.

Antioch tennis bows to Pats

Antioch tennis players were shutout 5-0 by Stevenson in a conference match.

No. 1 and No. 2 singles players Dusko Babin and Corey Cleghorn gave the best effort in the contest. They were, however, overpowered by Stevenson's Aaron Watts and Bill Wagner, 6-1, 6-3, and 6-2, 6-3.

Mark Bonovitz and Chris Phillips of Antioch were defeated by their No. 1 doubles counterparts Nick Andersen and Josh Rolph 6-1, 6-1.

Tim Wateridge and Steve Hovey were outmatched by Scott Grant and Mike Schatzmann 6-0, 6-1. The same Antioch duo suffered the same fate from Tim and Tom Grant.

The Sequoits will take their 4-3, 1-2 record to Zion-Benton in another conference contest Thursday.

Rams, Bulldogs do battle on track

Grayslake dominated Grant in a Northwest Suburban Conference meet Tuesday.

The Rams won 105-42 to raise their perfect league dual record to 4-0. They square off with Johnsburg May 9 at Grayslake in a meet which will determine the dual portion championship.

Jeff Neutzmann lunged just in time to cross the tape as he had made up a 7 to 10 yard difference. Neil Schroeder, Jeff Hagen and Barry Grabert won.

Neutzmann also won the 100 in a season-best 11.0, the 200 in 22.3 and the 400 in 54.2. "He is one of the best sprinters in the county," Rams Coach Joel Peebles said.

With the wins, he apparently is 100 percent after suffering an injury a couple of weeks earlier.

"It was a well-rounded meet. I was pleased with the team's efforts," Peebles said.

The Rams swept the 800, 1,600 and 3,200 meter runs first, second and third place.

Grant Knight, an exchange student from Great Britain, won the 3,200 in 11:31.2. Jason Gannt was a double winner in the 800 in 2:14.5 and the 1,600 in 4:43.8.

The Rams received some bad news last week as it was announced Steve Swanson will be lost for the season's remainder due to a knee injury. Tom O'Grady pitched in and had a winning 118.6 effort in the discus and a 36 feet, 5 inch effort in the shot put.

Junior Pat Eldridge suffered a toe injury early in the year but has recovered. He won the pole vault in 9 feet, 6 inches. "He can go higher and higher," Peebles said.

Both teams are at the Lake County meet at Stevenson May 5 before the Rams host the conference meet May 11.

Grant fared better in a 76-70 conference loss to Johnsburg.

The 3,200 meter relay team of Chuck Bosworth, Steve Fries, Tim Nelson and Tony Coniglio won in 9:02. The 400 relay team of Coniglio, Dave Jakstas, Eric Raasch and Rusty Duncan won in 46.0.

Ben Carter overcame a back injury to win the high jump in 5 feet, 8 inches as it was his best effort. He also won the triple jump.

Bart Bending took the 400 meters in 57.4.

Raasch won the 100 in 11.5 and the 200 in 24.3.

Joe Smith won the discus.

"It was an exciting meet," Grant Coach Sam Spasojevich said.

Coniglio won the long jump in his best effort of 20' 5".

The Bulldogs, 2-2 in league duals, scored only 12 points in losing to Cary-Grove and Barrington.

County meet gives Rams' relays chance to shine

Experience in the meet's final event is always a plus in track and field - just as Grayslake girls coach Joel Peebles

The Rams' 1,600 meter relay team won the Lake County meet final with a time of 4:20.9, topping Waukegan and Stevenson at Grayslake.

"That was the best time for the 1,600 meters. The key factors are three of the girls went to state last year. They know how to run under pressure and for the last two years have been one of the better 4x400 teams in the area," Peebles said.

The Rams used their usual lineup of Becky Eiden, Molly Rundle, Robyn Boydston and Sarah Thorson to edge Waukegan by a three second margin.

The Rams finished fifth with 55 points in the first-ever county meet, won by Waukegan with 116 points. Stevenson had 77, Libertyville 67 and Warren topped Grayslake for third by three points.

Peebles believes the meet was a good tune-up for the Northwest Suburban Conference meet May 4 at Johnsburg. "We are defending champs and Johnsburg will give us our best challenge," he said.

Grayslake was missing Boydston from the high jump due to injury and the long jump was canceled due to field conditions at the county meet.

Eiden finished second in the 400 in 1:02.1, being edged out by Warren's Heidi Balmes. "Becky is not noted for her early-season times. She has been winning in conference duals and she is right on track," Peebles said of last year's state qualifier.

Freshman Vanessa Nyland gained second place in 16.3 effort in the 100 intermediate hurdles. "That was her best of the season. She has gotten stronger," Peebles said.

Sara Thorson gained a second in the 300 low hurdles in 50.1, just edging Melissa Hyson of Warren.

Rams' rally comes up shy

A final-inning rally by Grayslake fell short as Johnsburg emerged with a 6-5 Northwest Suburban Conference baseball win.

The Rams tied the game at 3-3 in the sixth inning on a 2-run homer by Tom Mainord, only to see Johnsburg take the lead with a 3-spot in the seventh.

Lucas Bolton and Ryan Johnson were on base with RBI singles but were left there in the final inning.

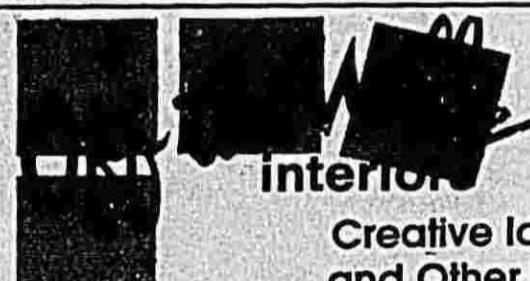

"Chris Quinn hit a bullet that their third baseman had to go to his left to get," Rams Coach Troy Harper said.

The Rams had 8 hits.

"But we had 4 errors and we did not execute the plays we had to," Harper said.

Ryan Johnson suffered the loss for the Rams as he is 2-3. The team is 3-5 in league play, 7-6 overall.

The Rams are back in NWSC battles again May 10 when they host Round Lake. Carmel was a non-conference foe May 4.

Tommy Morris, 11, of Antioch, will help throw out the first pitch at the Chicago Cubs versus San Diego Padres baseball game on May 12. Morris, along with more than 1,000 children will be special guests of Dairy Queen and Children's Memorial Hospital for Community Spirit Day at the ballpark.

Morris was born with club feet. As a result of his physical problems he has endured five major operations and faces more as he grows. Yet, he is active in Tae Kwon Do and will be testing for his black belt later this month.

Morris also has been a media spokesperson for the Marriott Corporation, a sponsor of the Children's Miracle Network Telethon, along with Dairy Queen. The telethon benefits Children's Memorial Medical Center in Chicago.

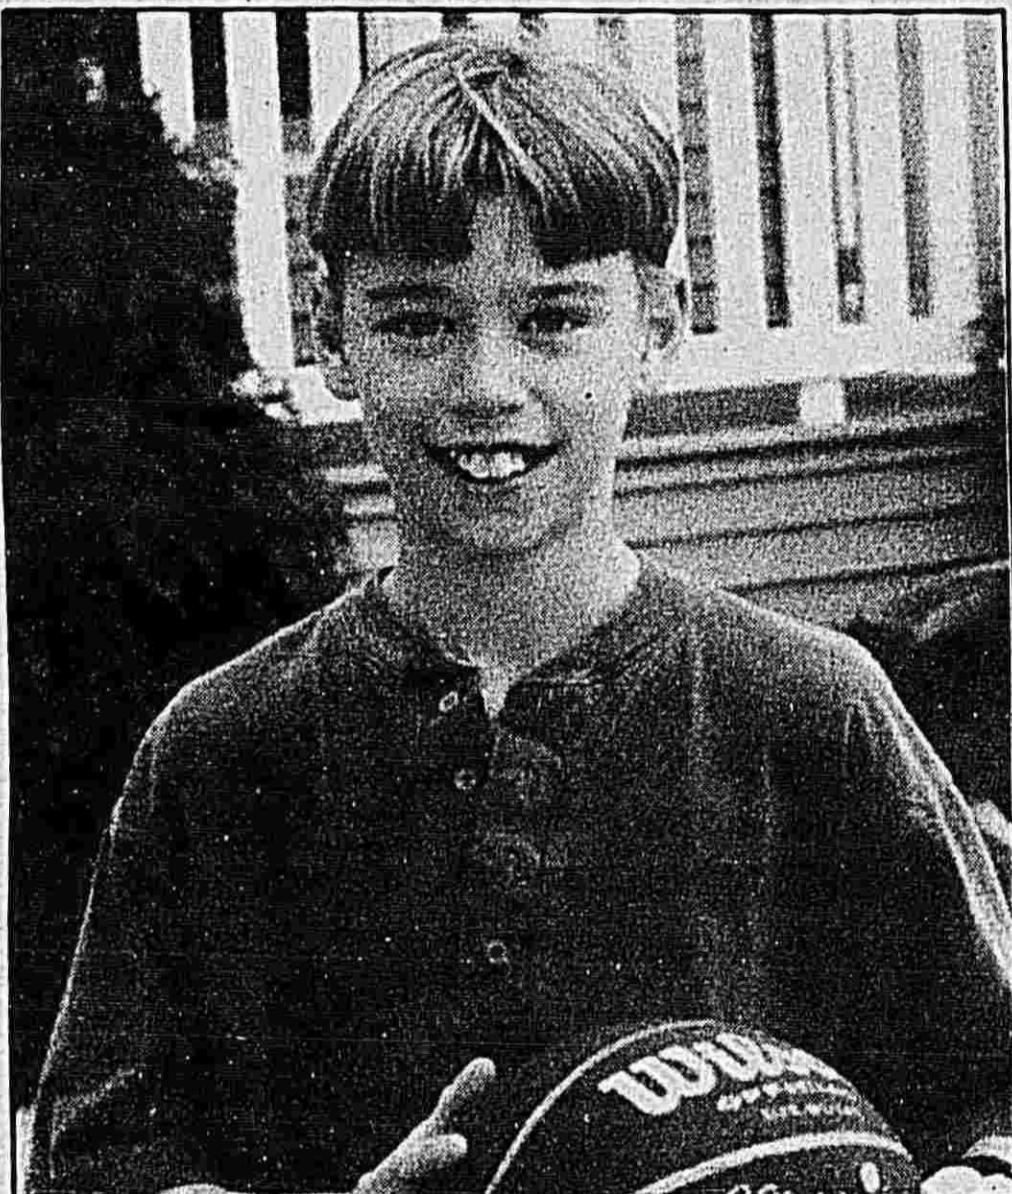

"My son is a patient at Children's Hospital," said Carol Morris, Tommy's mother. "He has been there, off and on, a long time."

Dr. Mihran Tachdjian is the doctor treating Morris. Tachdjian will also be involved in the telethon this year.

"This man wrote the book on pediatric surgery," said Carol. "Tommy has been his star patient." Tachdjian was the one who suggested Morris become involved in Tae Kwon Do.

"When he first started Tae Kwon Do, he couldn't walk," said Carol. "It has been amazing."

Forum examines impact of juvenile violence

JENNIFER WHISENAND

Staff Reporter

It began as shoplifting gum and stealing hubcaps off cars and has escalated to juveniles carrying guns and murder.

Mundelein Police Chief Ray Rose made that statement as he opened the panel discussion on juvenile crime.

Rose and other concerned Lake County officials met at Mundelein High School to examine the increase in juvenile crime throughout the country.

Five panel members came to the forum to discuss what they see everyday at work. Panelist included Mundelein Mayor Marilyn Sindles, Dr. Linda Hanson, super-

The Village of Mundelein, in cooperation with local and state civic leaders, is working throughout our community to maintain a safe and healthy environment in which our families may live and grow," said Sindles. "The forum is an example of that effort and is intended to present suggestions on how to recognize and deal effectively with issues involving our youth as gangs and their attempts to influence our children and the negative consequences that can result if we choose to ignore the potential impact on our lives," she added.

Lake County State's Attorney Michael Waller showed a 15-minute film which explained what the country is dealing with and how they law enforcement officials are attacking the problem.

In the video Ann Moss stated that one in every five students carries a weapon to school and from 1985 to 1991 the juvenile

The video discussed three solutions in fighting the growing problem. Those three choices are the Deterrence Effect, getting tougher with young criminals; Moral Messages, cultural confusion and media pollution and Risk Factors, attacking juvenile crime at its roots.

"Since March 15, we have had an armed robbery case filed in Vernon Hills, a sexual assault case in Lindenhurst and Antioch and an attempted murder case in Highland Park," said Waller.

Waller came to the forum to discuss a See VIOLENCE page B2

Lake management preserves resources

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

Like most people, it took a glaring headline for Paul Baumunk to get concerned about lakes.

"I saw a headline which stated, 'Lake Linden Polluted,'" the Lindenhurst mayor said at a lakes management conference Saturday.

Some seven years later, the village of Lindenhurst has an active lakes committee which works with the village board on lake management concerns. Lakes management is in the forefront everyday, not just an unusual occurrence, as communities strive to keep their best natural resource in the most usable condition.

Working with small lakes and ponds was the theme for Saturday's conference at the Lindenhurst Park District Community Center.

Attendees learned of how Lindenhurst and Lake Villa Townships take care of its lakes through an effort which started in 1980.

"The watershed is extremely important," Mary Colwell, Lake County Health Department, said.

Most watersheds are surrounded by either residential, agricultural or forested areas.

"What you do in the watershed will affect the lake," she said.

Colwell said people are sometimes surprised to learn that when they fertilize too close to the lake, for example, that there is high bacteria and soil erosion. Antifreeze dumped on the driveway "revisits" you in the lake system, she said.

"You may be one person, but everything you do will affect the lake," she said.

She outlined 15 steps for individuals to take. These include:

- Do not allow soil leaves or grass clippings to accumulate on your driveway, sidewalk, or in the street;
- Test your soil to see if you really need fertilizer on your lawn;
- Use low or no phosphorous fertilizer; use sparingly in smaller more frequent doses rather than one or two doses;
- Dispose of pet wastes by flushing them down the toilet or burial;
- Sweep (do not wash) fertilizer and soil off driveways and walkways.
- Although it may be tempting, do not feed the geese. Geese leave excrement behind at a rate of seven times in one hour according to a study.

Colwell outlined what cities and towns may do to save the lakes and wetlands. Five steps include:

• Adopt and enforce erosion control ordinances for construction sites;

• Require stormwater controls in all new developments;

- Install stormwater controls in existing areas where stormwater is very polluted;
- Increase spring and fall street sweeping;
- Require leaves and other yard wastes be composted or placed along the curb for collection rather than in the gutter.

"Laws are important to keep erosion under control," Colwell said.

Mark Pfister of the Lake County Health Department's lakes management unit explained the improvements in mapping. Some 148 different samples of plants were taken. "The wealth of knowledge from a map is tremendous," he said.

He explained a Bathymetric and plant mapping was done for Waterford Lake, a man-made lake in Lindenhurst. That lake is 66.89 acres with a maximum depth of 13 feet and average depth of 5.6 feet with 1.78 mile shoreline.

"If you don't have the right information, you can over treat the lake," Pfister said.

He said harvesting, one option explored by many communities, has its pros and cons. Harvesters do not work well in shallow water. See LAKE page B2

New coaster improves on traditional concept

Viper unleashed

ALEC JUNGE

Twists, turns, drops, screaming people. No this is not a dream, you are in the clutches of the Viper.

The Viper is Six Flags Great America's thrilling new wooden coaster which will dazzle and delight people who like the tingle in their tummy when they ride. Non-stop excitement, this coaster provides thrills, suspense and plenty of seat-lifting fun.

"This is a twister-type coaster," said Paul Ruben, coaster historian. "With the drops and the coaster layout and turns you get the feeling of serious decapitation."

Viper is designed after the classic Cyclone in Coney Island. The cyclone opened in 1927 and still provides people with non-stop action. The Six Flags version boasts more dips, thrills and a smoother ride using state-of-the-art coaster technology, according to Ruben.

Retired teachers seek insurance woe answers

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

Facing the possibility of having to foot the bill for health insurance costs in three months, dozens of Lake County Retired Teachers Assn. members ventured to Springfield to seek answers in the General Assembly.

Will Haymeyer, director Lake County Retired Teachers Assn., said a bill to help solve the health insurance crisis passed the Illinois House of Representatives and is being considered by the Senate. If not resolved, the retired teachers could be forced to pay for insurance themselves as of July 1.

"Hopefully, the Senate will approve it this week. The sticky point is Gov. Jim Edgar. He is the hold up on this. There are 177 members of the House and Senate who want to get this problem settled," Haymeyer said.

The situation actually began in 1979 when then Gov. James Thompson dropped retired teachers from the same insurance pension fund as state workers, judges and university workers.

"He said to pay the teachers out of investments which was fine as long as things were going good," he said.

Haymeyer described the trip to the state capitol as productive. "Everyone I talked to is supportive," he said.

Haymeyer is a 20-year veteran of the Waukegan school system who retired in 1986 and lives in Beach Park. The association represents about 85 percent of the 2,000 retired teachers in Lake County.

One of the Lake County groups was coordinated by Northlakes Chapter Secretary Betty Rae Kaiser. The Wadsworth resident found Rep. Al Salvi (R-Wauconda) to be receptive.

"It was promised to the teachers a long time ago. We got the bill to the Senate floor," State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) said.

United Way of Lake County requests grant proposals

United Way of Lake County is now accepting applications for the 1995 Youth Investment Grants. These grants will provide one-time funds of up to $500 to emerging Lake County organizations or community groups who submit a proposal for improving the lives of youth within their community. United Way of Lake County is interested in funding proposals from groups which involve the people affected by the issue.

"United Way of Lake County has a strong commitment to meeting the needs of the community," said Vice Chairman of Planning Steve Smurthwaite of Abbott Laboratories. "We see this as an opportunity to support small organizations who may not be eligible for other types of funding."

In order to be eligible for a Youth Investment Grant, organizations must have an annual budget under $100,000, be able to clearly define a community problem and show how the receipt of this funding would help address the problem. The youth served by this grant must be involved in the plan/carrying out of the plan. If the organization doesn't have official non-profit status, they must have an arrangement with a registered non-profit organization to serve as a fiscal agent. Projects must be completed within a 12 month time-frame.

Applications are due in the United Way of Lake County office by noon on Thursday, May 25. For more information or to request an application, call Michelle Crombie at 816-0063.

Viper

Ruben, who has ridden every roller coaster in North America likes the Viper for its unpredictability and for its many moments of negative gravity. "It is filled with surprises and nine moments of negative g's."

Riding the Viper myself, I tried Ruben's tip, (third car from the back) in that seat the rider gets lifted off his seat. With many turns and 11 drops the action is non-stop throughout the 1 minute and 45 second ride on a 3,458 foot layout.

For the daring coaster people, riding hands-up is a must. (Please keep hands and feet inside the car). You will want to drop your hands as it looks like you may hit the boards.

The ride differs significantly from its other wooden counterpart at the park, The American Eagle. The Viper has more drops and more action, (no long curve) and is designed with an abundance of twists and turns.

"Viper is the perfect addition to the thrill rides at Six Flags Great America because it is such a unique ride experience," said President James Wintrode. "The continual banking and dropping motions of this roller coaster make it a relentless and exhilarating ride. There isn't another roller coaster like this in the Midwest, and it has definite appeal for all ages of coaster enthusiasts."

Designed and installed by park personnel, Viper is constructed with 700,000 board-feet of Southern pine. It is unpainted to showcase the beauty of the natural wood. The ride station is housed in the remains of Col. B. Peabody's Snake Oil Elixir Factory where glowing eyes peer from dark rafters and snake skins adorn the walls.

Ground was broken Sept. 7, 1994. Approximately 40 carpenters contributed 30,000 man hours, six days a week over a seven month period, to get the ride ready for its April debut. The Viper's massive wooden structure is supported by 1,200 concrete piers—each measures 2-feet in diameter and more than 5 feet in height, and is embedded 4-feet into the ground.

For more information call Six Flags at 249-2133.

"The juvenile delinquency cases filed in Lake County have increased 157 percent from 1990 with 293 cases filed to 1994 with 754 cases filed," said Waller. "Dealing with serious juvenile crime involved all three of the solutions mentioned in the video," he added.

In dealing with any problem one must have short and long term involvement. The long term approach program to solving this problem is community partnerships, involvement with schools and the community, using resources and everyone working together, stated Waller.

Johnson said throughout the country people are finding out that no one is safe and everyone is a victim.

"There has to be a starting point, these kids do not come into the world wanting to become a gang member or a drug dealer," Johnson said. "What happened to a neighbor confronting the children or the parents of those children," he added.

Johnson believes that the children of today need more guidance, supervision and positive role models. Hanson addressed the problems with juveniles in schools.

"I believe raising children is an art rather than a science," Hanson said.

Prevention begins with a caring connection and a feeling of belonging, stated Hanson.

"The single most important ingredient is teachers that care about their students and the students knowing how they feel about them," Hanson said. "Providing fun activities and positive recognition will help keep students out of trouble," she added.

Hanson believes that parents need to communicate with their children more.

"If our kids know we are there, my money is on our kids," Hanson said.

Rose stated that traditional policing is not working.

"Traditional policing was developed in the 1930s when juveniles were stealing hub caps and gum. Now the kids have weapons and are out shooting people," Rose said.

Mundelein is working on Community Policing, which enable the police to take down the barriers and getting out into the community and getting to know the residents and letting them know the police perspective of the problem.

"We are going into a second generation of gangs, children of members of a gang," Rose said. "Four year old children are out on the streets signing their gang signs, this needs to stop," he added.

Juvenile crime is more serious today because we have not been tough enough with the youth offenders, stated Rose.

Rose believes the main cause of juvenile crime is not the absence of consistent punishment, but the erosion of moral standards.

"Every day I see what these panel members have been talking about," said McKoski. "Law enforcement alone is not going to solve the problem," he added.

McKoski stated that the jails are full and more inmates are brought in daily.

In 1977 there were 691 inmates in the Illinois penitentiaries for murder and drug cases. In 1992 there were 4,769.

"These are not estimates they are head counts," said McKoski. "There are 13 percent of kids doing 80 percent of the violence," he added.

The fear of crime is changing the way Americans live their lives and how they view their communities, Mundelein and many other Lake County communities are tired of living in fear and plan to change the problem of juvenile crime.

Many support groups came to the meeting to help parents and community members recognize the violence that could be effecting their children.

Some of the groups were Project C.A.P.E., Fighting Back, Lake County Crime Stoppers, Mundelein Task Force, NICASA—Northern Illinois Council on Alcoholism and Substance Abuse, Omni Youth Services, SLCRAPP - Southern Lake County Regional Action Planning Project and VIP - Violence Intervention and Prevention.

less than two feet and Illinois Department of Transportation recommends 25 percent coverage to do well.

"You can have too many plants and not enough plants, so you try and find a compromise," he said.

Cindy Baker, of the Chicago Botanical Gardens, told of how the problem of several eroding stream banks and channel down cutting lead to loss of property and exposed underground pipes, sedimentation of downstream Skokie Lagoons and overly wide, shallow channels devoid of desirable habitat.

Funded by a US Environmental Protection Agency Grant and the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission, the restoration project sought to stabilize eroding stream banks, improve in-stream water quality and enhance streamside buffer on a 12-acre site.

"It was great to be standing in a nursery surrounded by native plants," she said.

Other topics for the day included an outline of lakes management from a local view as Jim Stevens, village administrator in Lindenhurst, told of accomplishments and future goals, a session on fishing the Lindenhurst area lakes by Tom Mazur and a talk on vegetative stabilization from Alan Schindwein, Lake County Stormwater Management Commission.

The day concluded with a tour of the Lindenhurst Wastewater Treatment Plant.

COMMENTARY

Failed unit initiative destined for rebirth

TOM GREGORIN

Because I have been a resident of Lindenhurst for 18 years and an educator for 24 years, I would like to extend my sincere appreciation for the efforts the Committee of Ten put forth in trying to bring the educational system of our area into the 21st century.

In the months I became involved with their group, I continuously grew more and more impressed with their work ethic and with them as people. What more could you have asked the Committee of Ten to do?

The concerns and risks that the opponents raised were created by the law. Division of assets, hiring of faculty, these were questions I believed the committee could have worked out with the support of intelligent people; instead what they got was opposition from people with no vision.

I also believe their cause was right and it's unfortunate, as our opponents will find, that their plan was not approved. I also believe their cause is not dead. The unit district will someday become a reality.

Sending our communities' students to three different high schools is ridiculous and it's unfortunate that postponing the inevitable will only put our students further and further behind other progressive communities like Buffalo Grove, Crystal Lake, Lake Zurich and Naperville that have taken a proactive stance in handling the educational problems that come with growth.

How much more time will be lost by retracing the steps the Committee of Ten has already taken?

With the opportunity that was wisely given to us by allowing the issue to be settled by vote, I thought our citizens would decide the issue in a more intelligent manner. It seems that the only negative concept was money, and with no better solution offered by the opposition, I for one would have considered the investment in the educational betterment of our youth a sound investment indeed.

I wonder how soon and how many individual school referendums will now go to ballot to try and bail out each of the different districts involved. Or perhaps a new high school will just fall down from the sky so the Lindenhurst and Lake Villa students will have a place to be educated.

I find it interesting that the Antioch influence in this educational issue won't pass a referencated on a comparable level with our neighboring districts to the south.

Our area is not the urban farm community it was 30 years ago. The new housing developments are bringing college educated, white collar workers who will some day be the difference in the elections of the future. I'm just ashamed that our present community, one which I have invested 18 years in, couldn't see this unit proposal in a more positive light. The longer we wait, the more expensive it will be.

If the growth in the Lindenhurst/Lake Villa area is not a positive for the Antioch schools, and they have clearly sent a message that they won't pass a referendum to meet our needs, I saw this as an opportunity to assume responsibility for our own.

We would all benefit with higher resale value of our homes and brighter students to compete in the world of tomorrow. I view this as nothing but a positive opportunity for our area to become the total community it has the potential to be.

but also voted against allowing the creation of a unit that would have rid themselves of our burden.

I am a taxpayer in both the Millburn and Dist. 41 areas and my children have experienced the educational offerings of both. Neither district is no better or worse than the other, but perhaps if both were to combine the good of each, our area would have a terrific package to offer to our community and the students of the future.

We would all benefit with higher resale value of our homes and brighter students to compete in the world of tomorrow. I view this as nothing but a positive opportunity for our area to become the total community it has the potential to be.

The village boards of each community should also be commended for the promising stand. See COMMENTARY page B5

County permitting bad wetlands policy

County Board Rep. Larry Leafblad (R-Highland Lake) hit a bullseye in questioning whether the Lake County Stormwater Management Agency (SMA) could withstand political pressure in taking on proposed permitting responsibilities.

SMA would like to gain control over wetlands regulation from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. Director Ward Miller says local people know more about local wetlands. Besides, Miller claimed, county control would reduce the time and expense builders and developers pay in the permitting process.

Wrong reasons, Mr. Miller. Dead wrong.

Lake County stormwater experts hope to follow the model of DuPage County, that monument to the south for bulldozer efficiency in reconstructing the landscape, which already has received Army Corps permission to handle wetlands permitting.

True, the understaffed Army Corps takes an agonizingly long time in the permitting process and has been known to commit some environmental gaffs along the way. But for all its faults, there is no question that the federal bureau is more insulated from local politics and is better equipped to deal with the blandishments of builders and developers.

SMA, a young agency, is in an enviable position to sort out complicated wetlands questions and carefully correct past stormwater deficiencies. That's why it was created. The SMA also is a creature of the county and is susceptible to the dictates of politicians and the arm-twisting of power brokers on the County Board.

Exactly what the county doesn't need is a fast track for jumping over and around hurdles to protect the environment and provide for proper handling of storm drainage and flooding problems. It would be terrible to turn SMA into a conduit for plundering what's left of the Lake County countryside.

Locker searching gains in drug war

Chalk up another school that has instituted random locker search as part of its student drug policy.

In the case of Lake Zurich High School, school officials needed a nudge (or was it a push?) from a parents' group to adopt the policy. The impetus for formation of Parents for Excellence was frustration with lack of action on the part of school officials in the campaign against drugs.

Now that the policy is in place, the "all's well" can be sounded. Supt. Ed Cox says the efforts of parents were appreciated. Why do parents have to "bang on the walls" to get something positive enacted like a drug fighting policy?

While we're asking questions, shouldn't all schools adopt locker searching to combat the flow of drugs among students?

VIEWPOINT

Privacy doesn't preclude all types of politicking

BILL SCHROEDER

Publisher

Suburbia's penchant for privacy and mounting concern about neighborhood security is causing some time-honored political campaign practices to be reviewed or, in some cases, considered for the scrap heap.

That's the opinion of Mayor Charlene Beyer of Round Lake Park who also serves as Republican chair of Avon Township.

Beyer says the age-old campaign strategy of knocking on doors is in jeopardy, especially in private or gated communities.

The savvy political leader was jolted to reality, she related, in the latest village election when she and her cohorts were "shut out" of Saddlebrook Farms, a senior citizens development in Fremont Township that became a part of Round Lake Park some years ago through the wisdom of a creative, "fence line" annexation maneuver.

Residents of the 430 unit development are belabored with an identity problem. They are as close to Mundelein and Grayslake as their incorporated parent. Saddlebrook Farms has a Grayslake mailing address. Residents have a polling place at the American Legion Hall in Ivanhoe.

Where the Beyer forces ran into the "new politics" is when they were informed that they would be unable to go door-to-door because of the closed community's no solicitation rule.

The fact that political foe, Mike Stagner, who is a village trustee employed by Saddlebrook Farms developers, might have something to do with the policy hasn't escaped notice of the Beyer team. Opponents arranged bus transportation and refreshments for the seniors election day, according to Mayor Beyer. An 80 percent turnout resulted in Saddlebrook Farms and the Beyer candidates got creamed.

"I guess we'll have to work up some new strategies," Mayor Beyer mused. And then some, doubtlessly.

CONCLUSION—The Carmel 2000 Capital campaign begun four years ago to raise $3 million officially will end at a ceremony Thursday, May 25, at Carmel High School with Joseph Cardinal Bernardin as celebrant.

Money raised went for a new athletic and classroom facility, student scholarships and faculty enrichment. The drive was launched during a recessionary period in the U.S. economy.

HIGH STAKES—Dr. Sander Sundberg, an environmental consultant, figures the fabulously wealthy Pritzker family stands to make a bundle on their Grant Township real estate venture with build-out value of an estimated one quarter billion dollars.

A handsome return on a 25-year-old investment is the reason why the Pritzker's opted for development rights rather than turn the wetlands area into an arboretum, as one resident suggested at a public meeting. There is a chance, perhaps slight, that the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. will be able to acquire part of the pristine area known as Mud Lake, but renamed Arrow Lake.

Noted for their philanthropy, the Pritzker's haven't displayed any inclination to utilize their land holdings in west Lake County or a parcel near Libertyville for charitable purposes.

ONE MAN'S FAMILY—Our two grandkids, Erika and Johnny, are tackling a language barrier one word at a time, usually with amusing results. Remarkable how well doting grandparents can understand those first attempts at speech.

—PARTY LINES—

Ryan headlining confab on Open Meetings

Party Lines, the Lakeland Newspapers column of political commentary, is prepared from staff reports.

Interest is mounting in a meeting being sponsored Tuesday in Chicago by Atty. Gen. Jim Ryan and the Illinois Press Assn.

Up for review will be the Illinois Open Meetings Act, Freedom of Information Act and conflict of interest questions.

Media representatives, municipal law experts and state's attorneys will meet with Ryan to clarify the law and get answers to interpretations and changes in the law.

Lake County State's Atty. Mike Waller, whose office experienced a flurry of Open Meeting questions during the spring elections, is expected to attend.

Fighting Rte. 53—A new organization has been formed to fight construction by the Illinois Tollway Authority of Rte. 53—North West Illinois Regional Planning Authority. Members include influential Chicago residents. Trustee Andy Bitta of Hawthorn Woods, a long-time 53 foe, said the group is out to kill the controversial highway, no alternatives considered.

Tables turn for reporter—Fox Lake District Stanton School eighth graders in Teacher Lou Pawela's class were given an assignment which involved interviewing someone in a career they would someday like to have. Michelle Graves, 13, hopes to become a reporter, but her dream was nearly shattered when she made a number of calls to television, radio and daily newspapers who didn't want to take time out to talk to her. Her last resort should have been her first. Graves called Lakeland Newspapers and spoke with Fox Lake Press Reporter Tina Swiech who gladly accepted the interview with the budding journalist. Hope we helped!

Sage speaks—From his Libertyville observation post, Mike Graham is predicting that all pro-growth incumbents on the Lake County Board will be vulnerable in 1996.

"Too many school bond issues, roads are crowded, taxes out of control," contends the one-time power in county government and no-growth architect. Graham says people are fed up with the pressures of growth and they'll be ready to lash out next year at incumbents.

Challenger—Making Graham look like a prophet is Robert "Bob" Powers, who said he will challenge Dist. 6 County Board Rep. Larry Leafblad (R-Highland Lake) in the Republican primary next spring.

Leafblad Powers, a resident of Round Lake Beach where he is a member of the planning commission, is employed as retail meat manager in a Lake Forest supermarket.

Making waves—Tensions rose at Lake Zurich's first board meeting of the new term. After Trustees Jim Weakly, John G. Tolomei and Jim Krischke were sworn-in, they proceeded to vote to table three sets of minutes that were presented for the board's approval. Several items in the minutes upset the newly elected trustees, including comments made at their, and their supporters, expense, by unseated and current board members. Other concerns included the dismissal of several plan commissioners and the committee assignments.

These and other issues were among those to be discussed at a special board meeting held May 4.

Impact fee update—State Rep. Al Salvi (R-Wauconda) is sponsoring legislation which could make local school officials stand up and cheer. The law would give school districts the authority to impose impact fees. "Schools now have to go to village boards begging for bargaining power. Too many villages are controlled by trustees who are controlled by developers and schools are not able to get the money they need to take care of the new students who come in," Salvi said.

If enacted into law, Salvi's bill would increase funds for schools as well as slow down growth and the property tax increases.

Salvi called his bill a reasonable way to handle impact fees.

Meanwhile, a bill sponsored by the developers' lobby has died in the Senate. State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) said she could not support it because of worries expressed by local schools.

Yorkhouse Rd. debate—Party Lines learned the County filed an application with the Department of Conservation to make the necessary land swap that would pave the way for the Yorkhouse Road extension across the acclaimed Des Plaines River Demonstration Project. If the DOC approves the application, the county can start planning for the three-quarter mile extension. If the DOC denies the request, the issue is most likely dead in the water.

According to Susan Zingle of Citizens for a Better County, public opinion does count in the DOC's decision. She said this is the time to write or call the DOC in Springfield at (217) 785-0075.

On the homefront, CBC is staging an opposition rally outside the County Building May 9 before the County Board meeting at 9 a.m. Those interested in joining the rally can call Zingle at 263-5142.

Clean up effort—Timothy Close, spokesman for the Countryside Landfill, dismisses charges by concerned residents that the vertical and horizontal expansion of the landfill will cause leachate to drain down into the upper aquifer, thereby affecting the ground water in Lake County. He said the expansion has already received the blessings of SWALCO, the County Board and a number of lawyers representing both public and private interests regarding the expansion bid.

Also, leachate extraction wells are being installed per IEPA mandates. "The risk as it exists now will be reduced drastically," he said.

Baumunk

Temporary mayor—Lindenhurst Trustee Carol Zerba was appointed mayor at the last Committee of the Whole meeting. She replaced Mayor Paul Baumunk who was in Springfield on business.

growth of right wing massacre groups will continue to grow until such time that we see a mass revolution of the population.

The simple fact of the matter is that a large percentage of the population is not happy about where our country has gone in the past 30 years and Congress must wake up to that fact. Since 1962, we have seen the country grow from one of opportunity to one of welfare, from one of abilities being recognized to one of preferential treatment because of race, ethnic background or religion, where street violence instead of tolerance has become a way of life where inner-city education has fallen to new lows in quality and standards and where the gun has become the way of the street instead of high moral values and good citizenship.

There is still time for the elected officials of our country to wake up and reverse these trends. Instead of "welfare," we must give the people "opportunity"—opportunity by requiring anybody who wants to collect welfare to return to school and complete the education (either a trade school, high school, junior college or full college degree program) that so often was cut short.

Day care must be provided to these people so that they can raise themselves by the bootstraps from the ghetto projects to the college classroom so that they can learn how to earn a decent education, thrive and prosper in these great United States. Until we give all people an opportunity to develop the skills necessary to earn a good living, we will have violence in the ghettos, racism in the militia and a lawless society that will eventually move to overthrow our government.

Wake up Washington, it isn't too late. But you must act now!

Smelly muck defiles park

Editor:

The Lake Zurich Village Board Park and Recreation Committee is going to decide on May 8 whether to dump sludge from the bottom of the lake into Paulus Park all summer. The $80,000 project will fill an acre of land 17 feet deep. The village just spent plenty of money to fix up the beach and park and now it's considering dumping smelly muck and anything someone decided to drop off their boat into the park, making it unavailable all summer long. Why do we have to be the dumping ground for a private lake? We, the residents, have spoken out against sludge at the Southeast Treatment Plant. We certainly are against trashing Paulus Park!

I do not want my tax money wasted to dredge the lake when it's not even near the village's beach. Who will really be paying for this? Why should plans for a beautiful arboretum be killed so we can put potentially toxic muck in our public park?

One can only wonder what will be dumped on the Breezewood Park property once it's acquired.

Overcoming hate in U.S.

Editor:

Some Americans were quick to blame Mideast terrorist factions for the recent bombing in Oklahoma City. Public radio broadcast interviews with Americans of Middle Eastern descent who reported intimidation and threats of violence. However, to the surprise and shock of many, the bombing appears to be the work of terrorist factions operating within America by Americans not necessarily of Middle Eastern descent.

Now, we ask ourselves, how could this be and what can we do?

Studies have shown that racism and hate cross all social and economic boundaries and are passed along generation to generation. It wasn't so long ago, folks, that high school students in Libertyville attempted to distribute KKK literature. If it can happen in Libertyville, it can happen anywhere. Folks in Oklahoma City didn't believe it could happen there.

As Americans, we have the freedom to express our thoughts and opinions. Our constitution guarantees these rights. And, yes, that extends to the students from Libertyville. But we must ask ourselves, while protecting our freedom what can we do to stop this hate and violence?

Unfortunately, we cannot do much to alter the poison already flowing through minds that have embraced hate and are fueled by parents and their parents, and so on. But what we can do is make sure our public schools are the great equalizers. We can stress, in our public schools, the rights and fundamental liberties enjoyed by all Americans and their importance to the survival of our country and our freedom.

We can teach our children that America is a melting pot of racial, ethnic and religious groups, and that these helped make this country great. We can teach them that nothing good stems from hate, violence and prejudice, whether perpetrated by Middle Easterners, Americans or anyone!

Our children are our future. If our freedom, culture and way of life are to be preserved for future generations, then we must begin now. We must teach them that there is strength in unity and harmony—and that a house divided by hate, violence and prejudice cannot stand.

Editor:

The events in Oklahoma City this past 10 days are indeed a tragic and desperate act of a few disgruntled citizens whose frustration has been vented by violence and mass death. It is sad that this has occurred and certainly the sympathy of all of the people of the world go out to those who have lost their loved ones, and to all of the people of the United States and the world who have been affected.

But there is a greater message in this tragedy that our Congress must see, and until they do see it violence and the Hospital eye center offers seminar on RK

Radial keratotomy (RK), a surgical procedure designed to help correct refractive disorders—myopia (nearsightedness) and astigmatism—is now available at the Eye Center at Highland Park Hospital. Eye Center ophthalmologists performing RK are accredited and certified by the American Board of Ophthalmology.

Glasses and contact lenses are the most common methods for correcting refractive disorders. There are many reasons people choose RK to help correct nearsightedness. They wish to see well without physical dependence on glasses or contact lenses, to improve their performance in work or sports, to improve cosmetic appearance, to meet the visual requirements for occupations such as law enforcement and firefighting, or simply for convenience.

RK is usually performed as an outpatient procedure under topical, local anesthesia and takes, with preparation, about half an hour. Patients usually return work within one to two days.

intensity—are candidates for RK.

The center offers total eye care, including the latest diagnostic procedures in eye treatment. The full range of visual services, including retinal angiogram, ultrasound treatment and laser surgery are available. Among their many uses, laser procedures are successful in treating retinal diseases often caused by diabetes and, also, in managing patients with glaucoma.

Changing thoughts to help your moods

"I'm sorry, I can't do anything right."

"Everyone thinks I'm stupid."

"What's wrong with me?"

These thoughts plagued a 45-year-old married woman, mother of two bright twin boys. When you look at Jenny, you see a gentle, pleasing face on an average-sized body. Jenny's husband has been on business trips a lot lately and seems distant. As a result, feelings of insecurity, tension and anger have erupted. There hasn't been

Hospice offers unique way to honor mothers

Mother's Day is just around the corner, and this year the Hospice Foundation of Northeastern Illinois is offering a unique way to remember mom.

Donations can be made to Hospice in honor or memory of your mother. Your gift will provide services and support to terminally ill patients in need. The Hospice Foundation will send your mother a beautiful Mother's Day card or send you a memorial acknowledgment upon receiving your specially designated donation by May 8.

"What better way to show the deep appreciation to our mothers for all the love they have given us than by giving a little love away in their name," says Carole Blazek, Hospice Foundation Director. "Our fund-raising effort affords an opportunity for mom to receive a beautiful Mother's Day card while also supporting the work of the hospice in treating terminally ill patients and their families."

The Hospice of Northeastern Illinois (HNI) is a not-for-profit hospice serving McHenry, Lake, Cook, Kane and DuPage counties. HNI provides service to terminally ill patients and their families regardless of their ability to pay. Questions regarding HNI or the Mother's Day program should be directed to 381-5599.

much communication of late, and the children have been getting into trouble at school since their homeroom teacher has been replaced. When life becomes stressful—a common occurrence—Jenny is affected. Her thoughts become distorted. When her thoughts become distorted, she sees the world negatively and in turn feels bad. Her self-esteem plummets. Her thoughts have affected her moods.

This is a branch of treatment in psychology known as cognitive therapy. Although many things contribute to Jenny's situation, the relationship between her thoughts and moods can be changed for the better. When examining Jenny's thoughts, we find that she is falling into what cognitive therapists call "traps." Practitioners argue that Jenny can begin taking steps that will positively shift her thinking so that it is more realistic.

Here are some examples—from the work of Dr. David Burns—of cognitive distortions that Jenny needs to recognize—

1. All-or-nothing thinking: You see things in black-and-white categories. When your performance is not perfect, you see yourself as a total failure.

2. Over generalization: You see a single negative event as part of a never-ending pattern of defeat.

3. Jumping to conclusions: You interpret something—an event, a situation, an offhand comment—negatively, even though the facts don't support that conclusion.

4. Mental filter: You pick out a single negative detail and dwell on it to the point that your vision of everything is affected.

5. "Should" statements: You try to motivate yourself with "shoulds" and "shouldn'ts," but end up feeling guilty when you don't measure up.

6. Labeling: Instead of describing a problem, you attach a negative label to yourself, i.e., "I'm stupid."

7. Personalization: You see yourself as the cause of a negative external event that in fact you are not responsible for.

If you look back at Jenny's statements, they all match up with one or more of these examples. Cognitive therapists say that Jenny could "rewrite" her thoughts.

Take her statement, "I can't do anything right." Jenny should "rewrite" that thought. Perhaps she had a fender-bender accident. She could say, "I had an accident, but otherwise my driving record over the last 10 years has been excellent."

What about "I'm fat"? Jenny See MOODS page B10

Lake County AB/C Council has 15th anniversary

The Lake County Board of Health's AB/C Council is observing 15 years of service to Lake County residents. AB/C Council stands for Advisory Board and Coordinating Council for Mental Health, Substance Abuse and Developmental Disabilities service. The Council, which advises the Board of Health, was created in part because of a need for countywide planning and coordination of services identified by a regional health planning organization, Health Systems Agency of Kane, Lake and McHenry Counties (HSA).

According to Marianne Semmerad, who was with HSA at the time, such a group was necessary.

"The council was established to bring together people who represent a variety of perspectives on issues of concern to consumers, providers and Lake County citizens whose state and county tax dollars are used to provide mental health, substance abuse and developmental disabilities services."

Judy Fried, executive director of the Northern Illinois Council on Alcoholism and Substance Abuse (NICASA), and one of the original Council members, said her agency is one of many human service organizations that have been able to expand and enhance services because of Board of Health efforts through the council.

"For example, community grants provided start-up funding for our Hispanic Prevention Program, Youth Early Intervention Services, Youth Recovery Services, waiting list reduction services and substance abuse services for clients at REBOUND," said Fried.

Fried also stated that efforts by this Board of Health council have assisted in bringing federal grant dollars to Lake County.

"Because of the work of the council, needs have been formally identified and our agency (NICASA) alone has brought in $3 million dollars in federal funding to the county for services."

Fibromyalgia group offers support

Persistent muscle soreness which concentrates in distinct tender points can be both exhausting and fatiguing. The Fibromyalgia Center at Lake Forest Hospital's Center for Rehabilitation understands that fibromyalgia is a real cause of chronic pain and fatigue and that it is not a crippling disease.

Fibromyalgia continues to baffle and elude the medical community because so many of its symptoms are also common with other conditions. Often doctors arrive at a diagnosis of fibromyalgia by ruling out these other possibilities. Sometimes family and friends, even some physicians may see normal results and not fully understand what fibromyalgia sufferers are enduring.

The Fibromyalgia Center offers a supportive, multidisciplinary rehabilitative approach which features a unique eight-week program devoted to education and therapeutic exercise. Specialized programs include a rehabilitative water therapy class and support group.

The Fibromyalgia Support

Group provides individuals with fibromyalgia an opportunity to share insights with others who are experiencing the same frustrations and distress. The next meeting of the group will be held on Thursday, May 18, from 8 to 9 p.m. and features LFH neurologist Dr. Elizabeth Kessler, who will speak about "Managing Headache Pain for Fibromyalgia Patients."

Family Alliance gets second perfect

For the second year in a row, Family Alliance, Inc. of McHenry County received a perfect review from the Illinois Department of Rehabilitation Services. The annual review is a requirement for the not-for-profit senior day care organization. Illinois Department of Rehabilitation Services has contracted with Family Alliance for the past 11 years.

A no-deficiency review is a great accomplishment for any organization, and Family Alliance Executive Director Carol Louise states, "We are very proud of our performance reviews and will continue to provide only the highest quality of adult day care services."

In addition to adult day care services, Family Alliance, Inc. offers comprehensive geriatric services for seniors and their families such as senior day treatment, senior counseling, dementia support services and support groups, and care management for eligible seniors in McHenry County.

DETECTING COLORECTAL CANCER EARLY COULD SAVE YOUR LIFE.

If you're over 40, many physicians recommend both men and women to be tested for colorectal cancer.

It's the second most common form of cancer, but can be treated and cured if detected early.

A simple home test can help detect colorectal cancer. You will be able to tell within minutes whether your test is positive. If it is, additional tests are recommended to determine why the test was positive. It could be another health problem you may not be aware of.

Help for the fitness dropout

Exercise is good for you. By now, even the die-hard couch potato realizes this even if he is loathe to admit it. But knowing what's good for you and going out and doing something about it are two different things.

Staying motivated to workout day-to-day, week-to-week is difficult, especially for busy professionals. It was bad enough when the health community recommended aerobic exercise to strengthen our heart and lungs, and we had to get out treadmills or stairclimbers for 20 minutes. But now we are told that, in addition to aerobics, we should be doing weight bearing exercise to strengthen our muscles and bones.

Fortunately, there is help. Elias Karras announces the opening of Executive Fitness of Lake County, a one-on-one personal training company. Whether looking to lose weight, tone and trim or get bigger and stronger, Executive Fitness will provide for a private personal trainer who will train you in your own home or office. Not only will the trainer provide motivation, he or she will also ensure that workouts are as effective and safe as possible, with more results and fewer injuries.

Elias Karras is certified by the International Sports Sciences Assn. For more information call 855-0016; the first consultation with a trainer is free.

Moods

can also rewrite that thought. "I'm five-foot-four and 140 pounds. That's about average for my height. I would, however, like to lose five pounds." This way, she's not labeling herself. She's looking at the facts and making a sensible, goal-setting statement.

As Jenny restructures her thinking she will begin to rebuild her self-esteem and see things more clearly. It takes hard work to make these changes, because much of her "self-talk" is automatic and habitual. But the benefits are far-reaching.

Editor's note: Linda Millon, Psy.D., a licensed clinical psychologist, developed the women's program at Condell Medical Center. She is the clinical director of The Women's Circle of Health, part of Neuropsych, a group practice in Libertyville. The Circle can be reached at 367-1029.

YMCA Balloon Rally lifts off this weekend in Wauconda

The Lake County Family YMCA scholarship fund will be getting a lift this weekend as hot air balloons take to the Lake County skies.

The Lake County Family YMCA Hot Air Balloon Rally launches off from Wauconda Orchards May 6 and 7. Proceeds from admissions benefit the YMCA scholarship fund.

"This is an idea which has been several years in the making," said Karl Kopp, director of operations for the YMCA. "The committee plans on making it a yearly event, expanding it each year to provide more entertainment for spectators." Scholarships will be specifically targeted for single-parent families.

Hot Air Balloon Races have developed a large following across the county during the last decade.

"Many people have been calling and telling us about their experiences at other balloon rallies and are excited to meet the pilots," said Kopp.

Some 18 hot air balloons will be launched at 6 a.m. Saturday and Sunday and 6 p.m. Saturday at Wauconda Orchards, the corner of Gossell and Fairfield Roads. The site for launches allows for the inflation of 10 to 12 balloons at once with two waves for each launch. The event will include seeing Lake County's only hot air balloon launch, listening and dancing to country music, walking through the trade show, visiting food vendors, pony rides, hayrides and a craft show.

Saturday's activities start at 6 a.m. and conclude at 8 p.m. Sunday starts again at 6 a.m. and concludes at 11 a.m. Sunday is the Balloonist Awards Banquet at 8:45 a.m.

"We recommend that people arrive to view the launch an hour prior," said Kopp. "They will have the opportunity to meet and talk with the pilots." The YMCA will also raffle off a balloon ride.

After the balloons launch pilots will try to follow the same path as the lead pilot. The balloons will remain launched for approximately one hour. Pilots will also be dropping bundles of Lakeland Newspapers on specific targets along their route.

Admission is $3 per person. Children 12 and under are free. Volunteers are needed to direct traffic flow for the two-day event and will receive free admission. Volunteers are needed between the hours of 5 and 8 a.m., Saturday and Sunday and 5 and 8 p.m. Saturday. To volunteer, contact Karl Kopp, 360-9622.

Major sponsors of the event include: Wauconda Orchards, Gurnee Mills, Lake County Convention and Visitors Bureau and Reed Randle Motors as well as others.

Forest Preserves come alive with May festivities

JENNIFER WHISENAND

Staff Reporter

The forest preserves are alive with spring.

This month the forest preserves are engaged in a variety of recreational and learning activities.

"Spring and fall are our busiest times of the year because spring is the rebirth of nature and during the fall the colors are just beautiful," said Susan Hawkins, public information and marketing manager for the Lake County Forest Preserve.

Lake County Forest Preserves are open year round with many indoor and outdoor activities for all ages.

Smith Symposium

One well known event that the forest preserve provides every year is the 12th Annual Smith Symposium, which will be held the first three Sundays of May.

The theme this year is Celebrate Nature, and is sponsored by Abbott Laboratories, the Friends of Ryerson Woods and the Lake County Forest Preserves.

"Last year we had around 1,000 people sign up for the many different activities during the Smith Symposium," said Janet Gallimore, Lake County Forest Preserve museum director. "Residents and visitors come out to learn more about the many different topics that are being offered each and every year," she added.

This year the Symposium will feature bird and wildflower walks and nature workshops led by experts from across the Midwest.

Nationally renowned authors and naturalists Donald and Lillian Stokes will offer tips on bird identification, present an intriguing look at bird behavior and discuss the challenges of bird conservation in a keynote presentation of the "Amazing World of Birds," on Sunday, May 7, at 1:30 p.m.

"The most familiar nature writers in the United States, the Stokes have written 17 books about nature and a series of books on bird behavior," said Hawkins.

The Stokes are best known for their "Stokes Nature Guides," including "Nature and Winter, Wildflowers," "Insects," and "Animal Tracking and Behavior."

"Forest Preserve visitors are encouraged to bring their binoculars for bird and animal watching and to wear comfortable shoes and clothing that is appropriate for the weather," said Hawkins.

The fee for the keynote presentation by the Stokes is $6 per person, $4.50 for Friends of Ryerson Woods members.

Wetland tours

Nature lovers will also have a chance to tour the Wetland Demonstration Project in Wadsworth, which will be lead by Dr. Scott Hickman of the College of Lake County.

"Hickman will explain how this unique restoration facility is helping the overall health of the Des Plaines River," said Hawkins.

Workshops

Among the many workshops and topics offered during the month are:

- "Mechanics of Avian Flight," which will be presented by Dr. Eldon Greij, publisher of Birders World.

- "Hummingbirds," presented by Dr. Dave Willard, Bird Collection Manager for The Field Museum.

- "Breeding Birds," with Dr. Scott Robinson, Ornithologist with the Illinois Natural History Survey.

- "Identifying Trees in Spring," with Susanne Masi from the Chicago Botanic Garden.

- Another topic that will be covered on Sunday, May 21 is Urban Wildlife. This topic will be covered by Carl Strang, Ph.D., from the Forest Preserve District of DuPage County.

Strang will discuss the many species that are thriving in close quarters with people. Visitors will learn why these animals are surviving in the city and suburbs.

Spaces are still available in the workshops and walks. Free bird and wildflower walks begin at 7:30 a.m. and end before the workshops begin. Workshops are $5 per person and $3 for Friends of Ryerson Woods members.

For the exact dates, questions or to make registrations for any of the activities, individuals should call (708) 948-7750.

Star Watch

On Friday, May 5, Lake County residents are invited to take a drive to the Lake County Museum, located in Lakewood Forest Preserve near Wauconda, west of Fairfield Road.

The Lake County Astronomical Society will provide a public Star Watch program that will begin with an indoor talk followed by an outdoor viewing. Telescopes will be set up for the public to observe the stars.

Astronomy lovers of all ages are invited to attend the educational viewing. A fee of $2 will be charged for adults and 75 cents for students and children over 4 years of age. Reservations are not needed to attend.

Don DeCarl of Des Plaines as Don Quixote, Darin Greenblat of Buffalo Grove as Sancho Panza, and Anne Dempsey of Berwyn as Aldonza in the Northbrook Theatre production of "Man of La Mancha."

'Man of La Mancha' closes season

The Northbrook Theatre closes their most successful season ever with the classic favorite, "Man of La Mancha." This musical is artistically adapted by Dale Wasserman from Miguel de Cervantes book "Don Quixote," with music by Mitch Leigh and lyrics by Joe Darion.

Cleverly told on two levels, theater goers will first see the author Cervantes and his man servant as they are thrown into a prison to await trial before the Spanish inquisition—and instead find themselves being judged by the cut-throats and thieves who inhabit the dungeon. To defend his life and the manuscript of "Don Quixote" he dons make-up and costume and becomes Quixote. His servant takes the part of sidekick Sancho Panza; and the very prisoners themselves join the scene to enact the life of a befuddled old man who ventures into the countryside to restore the age of chivalry and right all wrongs—to dream "The Impossible Dream."

"Man of La Mancha" is directed by Joseph Jefferson and Committee member Catherine Davis. The cavernous dungeon setting is designed by Technical Director Kurt Ottinger, with costumes by Kate Mitchell, Northbrook Theatre Costume Designer.

"Man of La Mancha" opens May 5 and runs Friday and Saturday evenings at 8 p.m. through May 27. There will be one Sunday matinee performance on May 21 at 3 p.m. This performance will feature Sign Language Interpreter for the Arts, Stefany Early, who will offer her artistic interpretation for hearing impaired audience members.

Tickets are priced at $12 at the door, $10 paid in advance. Discounts are offered for seniors and groups of 15 or more.

Singles' groups are invited to join attend on May 6 for singles' night—free reception follows to meet and greet other area singles.

For reservations call 291-2367, box office hours are 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., Monday through Friday. The Northbrook Theatre is located at Leisure Center, 3323 Walters Ave., Northbrook.

Dine With Mickey and His Friends

by JIM WARNEK,
PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

If you've done any research into your Disney World vacation, you may already be aware of the "Breakfast with the Disney Characters" at the Contemporary Cafe. In fact, it may even be included with your Disney Package.

However, Disney offers many other breakfasts, as well as dinners, with Disney characters, throughout the park.

For instance, Minnie hosts her Menehune Breakfast daily at Papeete Bay Veranda at the Polynesian Resort from 7:30 to 10:15 a.m. Reservations are advised.

Mary Poppins and her friends put on a fantastic breakfast buffet until noon daily at the beautiful 1900 Park Fare restaurant at the Grand Floridian resort. After 5 p.m. Chip 'n Dale (as TV's Rescue Rangers) take over the place and serve a dinner buffet until 9 p.m. Reservations are not needed for either meal.

Admiral Goofy and crew also serve up a breakfast buffet at Cape May Cafe at Disney's Beach Club daily until 11 a.m. Again no reservations are required.

On Wednesdays and Sundays you can join Winnie the Pooh (and Tigger, Too) for breakfast at Olivia's at the Disney Vacation Club from 7:30 to 10:30 a.m. Here reservations are definitely required and are even accepted a year in advance.

If you're staying closer to the Disney Marketplace (i.e. Lake Buena Vista area), try the "Breakfast a la Disney": daily on board the Empress Lily. This one is served banquet style with seatings at 8:30 and 10 a.m. Again reservations are required and accepted up to a year in advance.

Also at the Disney Village Marketplace, the Big Cheese himself serves up dinner between 5:30 and 10 p.m. at Chef Mickey's.

Cinderella, Snow White and Peter Pan can be found at King Stefan's Banquet Hall for breakfast daily until 10 a.m. Reservations are accepted up to three days in advance.

You can join that lovable little mermaid, Ariel and her friends for an "Under the Sea" breakfast at the Coral Reef Restaurant at Epcot until 10:30 a.m. daily. Again reservations are accepted three days before hand.

Prices for most breakfasts range from about $12 to $15 for adults and about $7 to $8 for the kids (3-11). Reservations can be made by calling (407)-WDW-DINE. (that's 407-939-3463).

LIFE'S A BEAR

DONNA ABEAR

The joke's on me - conclusion

Wasn't that a dramatic way to end the column last week? Okay, so it wasn't like the TV show Dallas where the season ended and J.R. got shot, but what do you expect for $.50? Let's continue right where we left off:

I opened the car door, got in, turned to my husband and said, "I think I'm having a heart attack." My son Brandon perked up then and said, "Oh, good. What kind of snack?"

At first my husband thought that I was playing a very tasteless joke (me?) but soon realized by my labored breathing and the look of panic on my face that this was no joke. Knowing that if it was a heart attack, time was of the essence, he raced back into the drugstore and asked them to call 911.

Meanwhile, back in the car, I was gasping for breath and thinking all of the usual thoughts that come to mind as you see your life pass before your eyes, like "So this is 40, huh?" and "Life is like a greasy hamburger...you never know when you're going to bite into a bad one!" What really surprised me is that never once did I think about clean underwear.

A minute or two later, my husband was back at the car with the pharmacist, who told me to hold my arms up in the air to help me breathe. Shortly after that the pain started to subside. By the time the police and rescue squad arrived, maybe a minute or two later, I was breathing fine and all of that terrible pain was gone. I wanted to just go home; (now that I'd recovered I was embarrassed about the whole thing), but both my husband and the paramedics thought it best that I go to the hospital and get checked out just in case it reoccurred.

So there I was, feeling perfectly fine, without so much as a hangnail to complain about, riding to the hospital in an ambulance while the rescue squad folks doted on me, taking my vital signs. I was almost hoping for a good sharp pain somewhere so I wouldn't feel like a hypochondriac, but I changed my mind after they stuck an I.V. in my arm. Ouch.

After about an hour in the hospital getting an EKG and chest X-rays, and discovering that nearly every nurse or staff member I met at the hospital was a smoker (I'm still trying to figure that one out), the doctor gave me a clean bill of health and chalked it up to "fast food backup," or some kind of weird indigestion. As my husband walked me out of the hospital, I found my brother-in-law and sister-in-law in the waiting room, and I realized how much I had frightened everyone. In fact, all of my relatives said the same thing—"DON'T YOU EVER DO THAT TO US AGAIN!"

No problem—I have no plans to "ever do that to them again," but it did remind me that there are things in life that cannot be planned for or anticipated, and this was one of them. So what did I learn from this "sign?" I learned that though I can't foresee the future, I can help to shape it, and I will follow up with a physical, and work on improving my diet and exercise program (first rule of diet and exercise programs—get one!).

I also learned that the Village of Antioch is blessed with a 100 percent unpaid volunteer rescue squad, staffed with highly competent, caring and truly special people. They do not charge for their service, but donations are needed and appreciated. Or, you can help by attending their annual auction the first Sunday in August in Williams Park, where your purchases will help to keep the squad running.

My personal "THANK YOU!" to paramedics Jerry, Stephanie, Brian and Jim (hope I got the names right)—thanks for letting me hitch a ride!

Most important, I learned that even when life is a real bear, it's still worth living. Every minute!

Good Food Pepato is a cousin of Romano

CLAUDIA M. LENART

Regional Editor

Break out of the doldrums and enhance spring meals with a zesty cheese from Wisconsin. Pepato, a peppery, lively cheese, is a cousin of Romano and shares the same cheesemaking heritage as Parmesan, Asiago and Provolone, brought to Wisconsin by the immigrants from Sicily and southern Italy.

In Wisconsin, pepato is produced exclusively by the Park Cheese Company in Fond du Lac. Pepato's peppery flavor makes it an ideal partner to enhance soups, salads, salad dressings, stuffings and garnishes.

The following recipe is perfect for tossing with a springtime salad.

Marinated Wisconsin Pepato Cheese and Tomatoes

1/2 cup sun dried tomato halves

8 ounces Wisconsin Pepato Cheese, cut into 3/4 inch cubes

3 cloves garlic, chopped

1 tablespoon chopped rosemary or 1 teaspoon dried oregano

1/4 teaspoon red pepper flakes

1 cup olive oil

Place sun dried tomatoes in boiling water for 2 minutes, drain. Chop finely. In bowl, toss together tomatoes, cheese, herbs and pepper flakes. Pack into 3-cup glass or plastic container with tight fitting lid. Pour over enough olive oil to cover. Store in refrigerator up to 2 weeks pressing down occasionally to be certain cheese and tomatoes are covered. Let stand at room temperature approximately 1 hour before using.

For tossed salad: In large bowl combine 4 cups crisp torn salad greens with 1 cup drained Marinated Wisconsin Pepato Cheese and Tomatoes. Add two tablespoons of the oil marinade and 2 tablespoons white wine vinegar. Toss thoroughly.

Time to enter 'Mommy Hall-of-Fame'

In baseball the Hall-of-Fame means that you are up there with the likes of Ruth, Aaron and Gehrig. In music it means you can go note to note with Hendrix, Joel and Streisand. And, now, for the first time, there is a Hall-of-Fame for mommies. Value City Department Store in Gurnee Mills is offering kids to come into the store and fill out a statement on "Why My Mom's the Greatest" Bring in an optional non-refundable picture of their mother.

Each mother nominated will have her picture and nomination letter displayed on a special Mommy Hall-of-Fame wall and will receive a certificate commemorating her induction.

Each inductee will be automatically entered into a Mother's Day drawing to win first prize, a $200 shopping spree at Value City; second prize, a $100 shopping fee; and third prize, a $50 shopping spree.

Nominations will be taken at Value City until Sunday, May 14.

Movie Pick

Caruso takes to big screen like Cagney

For those who have considered David Caruso an insufferable ingrate of an egomaniac, who left a starring role on television "NYPD Blues" to "flop" on the big screen, the verdict is in and Caruso has made it.

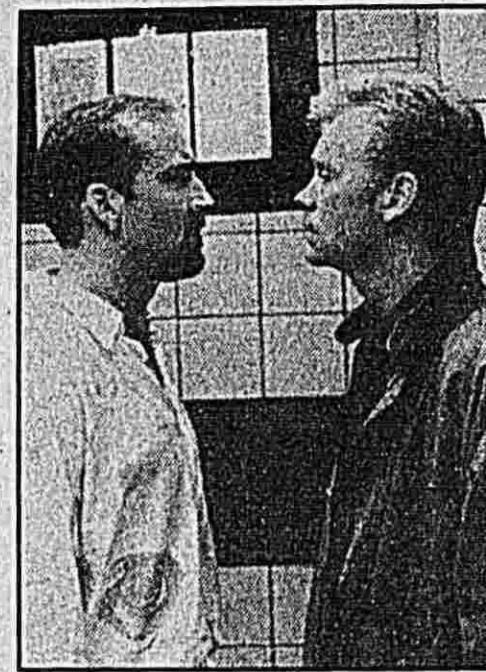

At least most critics have liked what they see in the remake of "Kiss of Death" which opened last weekend.

The movie could be a vindication of the thankless "Rat" tag that Caruso drew when he took an offer of $3 million against his present $500,000 "NYPD" salary and two great movie roles.

This quiet toughness he displays in "Kiss," out of tune with his slight, almost delicate build, hasn't been seen since James Cagney smashed a grapefruit in his girlfriend's face.

Caruso gives a soft, yet emotional portrayal of Jimmy Kilmartin, a loser of a guy who gets burned every time he helps a family member or the law.

First he thinks he's saving his cousin's life by spending "just two hours" transporting stolen cars, and ends up in prison for three years and losing his alcoholic wife, played by Helen Hunt.

When he gets out, he tries to get his daughter back as he marries his ex-babysitter but is waylaid by a low-life D.A. who takes over his life by forcing him undercover to get the ferocious gangster, played by a pumped-up Nicholas Cage. "Junior Brown" is a show stealer for Cage. This version of "Kiss" takes on some of the riveting revulsion of "Pulp Fiction," without a lot of the visual repulsion.

"Kiss" has an intelligent, if rather complicated plot, but the marvelous cast, which includes the stupendous Samuel Jackson, kept us glued to our seats until the exciting finale.

If Caruso can keep getting roles like this one, and the movie camera keeps loving him and giving him a surprise sexiness, he will have made the big jump from TV back to his first love in Hollywood.

We rate this one five out of five stars, not only because we like Caruso, but we figure anything that can keep us wide awake when we were ready for slumberland, has to be good.

This is not for the squeamish, the faint of heart, or those who dislike the strong language used by the creeps who criminalize part of our world. It is for those who love realistic plots and acting, and who don't mind a few quality kills here and there. It carries an "R" rating for language, sensuality, nudity and violence.—by GLORIA DAVIS

HOROSCOPE

ARIES — March 21/April 20 Face problems head on instead of letting them draw you into a shell. Problems don't vanish when you turn your head, they grow. Delays on an upcoming project give you extra time to perfect your work. Here's an opportunity to show off. It's time to think about diet and exercise.

TAURUS — April 21/May 21 You may be faced with an important decision this week. Think it through and don't let others influence your decision. You know what's right for you. A simple project could turn into a big problem if too many people get involved. A loved one may need extra attention this week.

GEMINI — May 22/June 21 The needs of others may have to be put before your own. This is especially true if you are a parent. Financial matters look promising. You may be in a position to make that purchase you've been contemplating. Your enthusiasm will be a source of inspiration to someone at work.

CANCER — June 22/July 22 Don't let your ego stand in the way of progress. Other people have good ideas, too, and using them doesn't discount yours. A social event you were dreading turns out to be a big hit. You'll feel happy you gave it a shot. There will be very good news by the end of the week.

LEO — July 23/August 23 Patience will be an important virtue this week, especially when it comes to romance. An old friend will be in touch and may have some surprising news. You'll realize that time can really change people. A young family member may come to you for advice. Be encouraging.

VIRGO — Aug 24/Sept 22 Your habit of dotting every "i" and crossing each "t" may backfire. As you're magnifying every detail, be sure to look at the big picture, too, or you could overlook something very important. A new relationship may seem perfect, but don't put all your eggs in one basket.

LIBRA — Sept 23/Oct 23 It's smooth sailing this week. You'll get through work projects with ease and you'll have plenty of time to accomplish personal goals. Someone you put your trust in will come through for you. A family member will have good news that could affect you in a very positive way. You'll have something to celebrate.

SCORPIO — Oct 24/Nov 22 Avoid deception of any kind. Even little white lies could get you in trouble this week. Work-related problems will be plentiful. Don't let them get the better of you. Just tackle them one at a time. A miscommunication at home could cause an unnecessary delay this weekend.

SAGITTARIUS — Nov 23/Dec 21 Even if it doesn't feel like it, the sacrifices you make now will pay off later. Be patient. Keep your priorities straight when it comes to work projects. Avoid leaving the time-consuming tasks until the end. A romantic evening will make the weekend a memorable one. Enjoy!

CAPRICORN — Dec 22/Jan 20 Before you get caught with your foot in your mouth, think before you speak. It's better to admit ignorance than to tell "half truths." If you feel frustrated in your current work situation, now's the time to do something about it. Don't take a defeatist's attitude when it comes to your future.

AQUARIUS — Jan 21/Feb 18 Your zany approach to life will be a breath of fresh air to a frustrated friend. Face it, you can cheer people up by just being yourself. Not a bad quality! A surprise phone call from an old friend could set the stage for weekend activities. You may be in store for an exciting time.

PISCES — Feb 19/March 20 Go the extra mile if you're working on an important project. It could help you out later on. A change in weekend plans gives you the time to yourself you've been craving. You'll be able to relax for a change. Be patient with a temperamental loved one. Try to be a better listener.

CRITIC'S CHOICE

Glaser spans the generations in 'Family Secrets'

The five characters in "Family Secrets" span the generations—parents, a younger sibling and grandma.

But as they reveal themselves on the stage of Chicago's Royal George Theater, they are one and the same person. Sherry Glaser not only wrote the script, she also creates each of the characters during the course of her uninterrupted 100 minutes on stage.

Glaser starts out in male garb as Mort, the father, a middle-of-the-road, conventional working stiff bewildered at his daughter's unconventional lifestyle and upset at her choice of partners.

In mid-sentence, while slipping on a blonde wig and changing clothes and mannerisms, Glaser becomes Bev, the "perfect" mother, a manic-depressive who has suffered a nervous breakdown and after a long struggle finally comes to terms over suppressed grief at the loss of her own mother. Glaser's affected laugh quickly wears thin.

Probably the strongest (and most fascinating) characterization is of Fern, the elder sister, who recounts her home child-birth experience with a colorful, blow-by-blow description.

Glaser seems to overdo it as Sandra, the wining, rebellious and often hilarious teenager. And not everyone will take to Rose, the aging Jewish grandma who has found a new love in her golden years.

"Family Secrets" is a mixed bag—there's something everyone can relate to, but a lot of excess baggage best left behind. But Glaser's characters, while well defined, are quirky and sometimes hard to get into.

The play runs through May 28, and ticket information is available at (312)988-9000.—by TOM WITOM

Native plants are becoming a welcome site in Lake County

Natives of desert areas surely will not survive in the humid Northeast.

Many of the oaks of the South are not winter hardy here in Northern Illinois. Properly chosen natives of a given region have many advantages for that area. They are adapted to winter temperatures, rainfall and soil types. Native plants also have reached a balance of existence with native insect pests, which translates into less spraying of insecticides into the environment. From an aesthetic point of view, landscaping with natives preserves the unique, and special appearance of a region, which sets it apart from others.

It's really not acceptable to merely level the ground and sow some grass seed over a pipeline or other large scale disruptions of the environment. Native plants should be used to restore areas, showing ones sensitivity to the surrounding environment.

More and more attention to native plants in the landscape is a welcomed site both in commercial as well as residential settings. The term "native plant" must be more clearly defined. Not all native plants are usable in all regions.

Lately, many of the northern Illinois nurseries are growing more and more natives and this, I believe, is great.

Here's a partial list of some USA native plants as well as Illinois native plants:

Trees

Acer nigrum—black maple, Illinois native

Acer rubrum—red maple, Illinois native

Acer Saccharum—sugar maple, Illinois native

Aesculus glabra—Ohio buckeye, Cook County native

Betula nigra—River Birch, Illinois native

Fraxinus Americana—white ash, Cook County native

Juglans nigra—black walnut, USA native

Populus tremuloides—quaking aspen, Illinois native

Quercus bicolor—swamp white oak, Illinois native

Quercus alba—white oak

Shrubs

Aronia arbutifolia—red chokeberry, USA native

Aronia prunifolia—purple chokeberry, Illinois native

Clethra alnifolia—summersweet, USA native

Cornus alternifolia—pagoda dogwood, Cook County native

Hamamelis virginiana—fall bloom ing witchhazel, Cook County native Viburnum lentago—nannyberry viburnum, Illinois native

Evergreens

Picea glauca—white spruce, USA native

Picea pungens glauca—blue Colorado spruce, USA native

Pinus strobus—eastern white pine, Illinois native

Pseudotsuga menziesii—douglas fir, USA native

Thuja occidentalis—American arborvitae (Klehm strain), USA native

Use time-saving equipment to increase garden enjoyment

If you're like most Lake County gardeners, you'd love to have a beautiful vegetable garden but don't know where to find the time. The answer? Join the increasing number of on-the-go gardeners who are effectively using timesaving equipment.

The main consideration in productive, time-efficient gardening is determining your specific needs. With this in mind, you will be able to decide the types of equipment necessary to get you on your way. This means that you will have to decide how large, or small, you wish to plant your garden. You will also want to determine the kind of soil you have in order to choose tools and equipment designed for your garden type.

Here's a list of equipment to get you started and keep you going:

Digging tool

When planning a garden of small to medium size, you'll generally find that simple handheld tools are the way to go.

A trowel is probably the most used gardening tool, since it is both functional and versatile. It can be used indoors when starting seeds early and outside for all types of gardening tasks. When selecting a trowel, look for a strong steel shank that connects the blade to the handle. The shank is the part that receives the greatest stress and is usually the place where a trowel will wear out first.

A transplanter is a trowel with a narrow blade marked off in inches and will assist you in determining the soil depth of nursery plants, bulbs and tubers.

A 3-claw hand cultivator is perfect for breaking small sections of compacted soil. It is also useful for removing unwanted growths such as weeds and crabgrass.

Hoes, rakes, forks
A rugged garden hoe is a familiar and productive gardening tool that you can use for chopping dirt clods, making furrows, digging out weeds and hilling potatoes.

A garden rake aids in the task of spreading peat moss before tilling and smoothing the seedbed before planting.

Perfect for the small garden, a spading fork can be used to turn a small plot by hand. It is also useful in turning compost and spreading peat moss.

Watering supplies

To ensure that your vegetable garden receives the proper amount of moisture throughout the season, watering supplies are important.

There are many types of hoses available. The most common type is made to carry water to a sprinkler head. These can be made of plastic, polyvinyl or heavy-duty rubber. While rubber hoses generally last the longest, plastic and polyvinyl hoses will be adequate in situations when your garden requires little spraying. A soaker hose, if filled with tiny holes and, when properly positioned in your garden, will provide a constant, gentle application of water directly onto your vegetation.

For watering a large garden, an oscillating sprinkler can be used. The sprinkler head moves in a back-and-forth pattern to cover a large area more quickly.

Walk-behind tillers

When working on a large garden, you'll often find that larger equipment is needed.

A compact tiller is a rugged helper that will save you hours of work. These tillers range from two to three and one-half horsepower and till a path anywhere from six to 36 inches wide, mean See EQUIPMENT page B23

Equipment

they're perfect for preparing a small to medium garden seedbed. Heavy-duty walk-behind tillers provide greater horsepower and wider tilling widths for extra-large gardens. If you elect to purchase a heavy-duty model, be sure to get one with reverse drive. This will allow you to back away from fences and maneuver out of corners without strain. Tractor-mounted Implements

If you already own a lawn and garden tractor and are planning a large garden, you can add a tiller attachment for fast seedbed preparation and cultivation. Tractor-mounted tillers range from 30 to 48 inches wide. Most are mechanical and run off the tractor PTO; some models run off the tractor hydraulic system. A hydraulic tiller can be mounted to the tractor for standard forward tilling.

The tiller can also be mounted "backward," which provides a counterrotating tilling action that helps the tiller break up hard soil and sod more thoroughly in one pass.

Whether you're planning a large or small vegetable garden this year, make sure that you have the proper timesaving equipment designed for your specific needs.

Company cleans up after man's best friend

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

It's a dog eat dog world—and somebody has to clean up after them.

Meet Greg Glasson, owner of Do-Do Pooper Scoopers Animal Waste Management out of Wadsworth.

Just as the company's name would imply, it may not be the most glamorous job in world. In fact, people hire Glasson because he does a job that most people don't like doing themselves, but Glasson believes he has identified a large market—that being dog owners—and he offers a unique service for a nominal fee.

Simply put, Glasson picks up dog do-do.

"When I was training dogs I was noticing that people weren't cleaning up after their dogs," Glasson said. "There is a need for it, a big need—for health reasons."

Armed with a pooper scooper, a bucket and a specially formulated disinfectant, Glasson proudly says his do-do crew eliminates the dirty work that comes with animal ownership, while keeping the environment healthy, odor-free and clean.

His technicians pickup, bag, seal and dispose of the waste, and then disinfect and deodorize the damaged area with an environmentally-safe, anti-bacterial agent.

"When you leave the feces on the ground, it's going to kill the grass," he noted. "The feces also spreads germs and diseases among other dogs and humans."

Greg Glasson, owner of Do-Do Pooper Scooper Animal Waste Management in Wadsworth, demonstrates a technique that may make him very wealthy. Lawyers have already contacted him about franchising his idea, which performs a service most animal owners do not relish doing themselves.—Photo by Kevin Hanrahan

There is a silver lining behind the First Chicago policy to charge some customers $3 when they use a teller for bank transactions—choice.

Jeff Mulder, president of the First National Bank of Chicago's Antioch branch, says the media has interpreted the new fee schedule as an oppressive act, when in reality 80 percent of First Chicago customers will not be affected by the rate structure. "First Chicago has been maligned and misrepresented by the press," Mulder said.

The decision to institute the fee was not taken lightly according to Mulder and ultimately offers customers more choice in the structure of their accounts.

"Before we restructured these accounts, we conducted over 1,200 interviews with clients or prospective clients," he said.

What First Chicago did after compiling information from the interviews is offer four separate checking accounts to give its customers more choice. The first account begins with a zero minimum balance and encourages customers to use the automatic teller machine for deposit or withdrawals. Mulder says with that flexible, low minimum balance comes a trade off. Every customer choosing the account with the zero minimum balance will pay a $3 fee every time they use a human teller.

"We are giving people more choices for free," Mulder said.

Other accounts begin with a $250 minimum balance and a $750 minimum balance. The accounts come with four free teller visits or six when using direct deposits. Renaissance checking is reserved for senior citizens and comes with a zero account balance and interest. Mulder says the bank has other outlets for customer in addition to the ATM machine. See FEES page C5

County to collect $800 million in tax revenue

If you're one of the 218,000 homeowners in Lake County, the bill is in the mail.

Tax bills were mailed May 2 according to Jack "Red" Anderson, Lake County treasurer.

"The County will collect $800 million this year, up from $760 million last year," said Anderson. "That is not necessarily an increase in the tax rate but a reflection of the increase in growth." Anderson said many new homes have been added to the tax roles.

Individuals with questions on their tax bills should contact their township assessor.

Chicago area industrial market off to fast start

Gross absorption (combined sales/leasing activity) of 9.6 million square feet during first quarter propelled the Greater Chicago area industrial market to its fastest start since 1989, according to CB Commercial Real Estate Group's survey of an 834 million-square-foot property base, comprised primarily of manufacturing and warehouse/distribution facilities. Absorption during the first three months of 1994 was 8.1 million square feet.

Looking just at the 364 million square feet of properties with a minimum of 100,000 square feet, CB Commercial's survey showed a slight decline in the vacancy rate during first quarter to eight percent from 8.1 percent at yearend. The index, which peaked at 12.1 percent in 1992, is at its lowest point since third quarter 1990 when it stood at 7.8 percent.

The market's overall vacancy rate for all properties with a minimum of 10,000 square feet continues to show minimal movement, decreasing during first quarter to 8.1 percent from 8.3 percent.

An increase in large user activity, which helped spur demand in 1994, has carried over into the new year, according to CB Commercial's Stephen R. Kozarits, a senior vice president. Some 4.5 million square feet or nearly half first quarter's total absorption was concentrated in properties greater than 100,000 square feet, including 3.1 million square feet of sale transactions.

Kozarits says high-cube warehousing remains the property type in strongest demand and accounts for nearly all the 4.5 million square feet of new construction in progress. Areas where new development currently tops one million square feet include Lake County, the Far Southwest suburbs and North DuPage County.

In the zone

The highest level of first quarter absorption, 1.3 million square feet was found in the O'Hare corridor, which boasts the area's second largest property base of 104.2 million square feet; followed by three smaller industrial zones which grabbed a disproportionate share of market activity:

- Central DuPage/Kane County, with a 25.1 million-square-foot base where absorption totaled 1.1 million square feet.

- Lake County, with a 50.3-million-square-foot base where absorption exceeded 991,000 square feet.

- Southwest Suburbs, with a 48-million-square-foot base where absorption topped 851,000 square feet.

In contrast, on the South Side of Chicago, the largest market with 115.5 million square feet of industrial space, absorption lagged at 612,000 square feet, according to CB Commercial's report.

At the close of first quarter, industrial zones with the highest vacancy rates were Northwest Cook County (14.2 percent) and the North Side of Chicago (13.3 percent). The lowest vacancies were found in outlying North Kane County (two percent) and North DuPage County (2.4 percent).

Blue Cross, Blue Shield rated best by Chicago area doctors

Chicago area physicians say Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Illinois provides better quality service than any other managed care provider, according to an independent survey by the Wyatt Co.

The Chicago office of the Washington D.C. based consulting firm surveyed approximately 7,000 physicians practicing in the Chicago metropolitan area to gauge their opinion of 15 major health plans. The plans were evaluated on the basis of service and quality.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Illinois was rated the top performer of being user-friendly for physicians and for the best overall quality of service. Blue Cross also finished first among the most favorable business partners for its timely credentialing process, for abiding by its agreements with physicians, for educating plan members and for its accurate eligibility/membership lists.

"What physicians are saying is that we try to be fair. We try to build relationships with them and cut down on the hassle factor," said Michael Seibold, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Illinois senior vice president marketing and health care management.

"This survey recognizes what we have known for a long time, that a strong business partnership with physicians is the key to delivering quality health care to our members," Seibold said.

Physicians were asked to evaluate the 15 largest—in terms of membership—Chicago area health plans. In addition to Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Illinois the included: Aetna, Affordable, Cigna CNN, FHP, Health Direct, Health Network, Humana, MetLife, Private Health Care Systems, Rush-Prudential, Travelers and United Health Care.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Illinois is the largest health insurer and managed care company in Illinois, providing coverage for nearly 2.5 million people. It is also the Medicare administrator for Illinois and Michigan. With a superior rating from A.M. Best, an excellent rating from Standard and Poor's, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Illinois is recognized as one of the strongest health insurers in the country.

INVESTMENT TRENDS

Noah A. Seidenberg,
Investment Representative of Edward D. Jones & Co.

Investment butterflies get cooked

I recently received a call from an investor who wanted to know how the stock market's current performance was affecting his investments. After I learned that his investments were insured tax-free bonds, I asked some specific questions: Do you still receive the regular income checks that you were promised? Yes. Have your investment objectives changed? No. Do you want to sell your bonds and stop receiving this regular income? No.

Even though the daily fluctuations of the stock market were small, the investor panicked at every movement. On top of that, he did not understand that bonds are affected by interest rate fluctuations, not the stock market. When the media reported a decrease in the market, this investor was afraid that soon his investment and its income would disappear.

Unfortunately, many investors are unnecessarily plagued by similar concerns. If anything negative occurs in the markets or the economy, they want to sell their securities and move the money to what may appear to be safer (and often more popular) ground. Louis Rukeyser calls such investors "butterflies," flitting to the flower of the moment.

However, to achieve success, investors might be better off following the example of the turtle, which doesn't move around very much but generally manages to live a long life through all kinds of weather.

Individuals who identify their objectives and carefully select a diversity of investments can avoid having to move money around in response to changing conditions. Of course, a major change in financial objectives—for example, moving from your working years to retirement—can be good cause for restructuring.

The late Paul Cabot, co-founder of State Street Investment Corp., the nation's second-oldest mutual fund, was a proponent of long-term investing. He believed that focusing on long-term trends, not short-term speculation, was the only way to give individual investors a fair chance.

State Street Investment Corp. faced turbulent times in its early years—the 1929 stock market crash, the Great Depression, World War II and more. Yet no investor who held shares of the fund for 10 years ever lost money—a remarkable testament to long-term investing.

Securities markets move up and down, interest rates fluctuate, economies go through cycles—and investment performance changes, too. As long as the companies and agencies underlying your investments remain sound, and your financial objectives stay the same, short-term fluctuations should not alter your investment strategy.

"Butterflies" who flit from one hot investment to another often wind up getting cooked. Turtles, on the other hand, are patient, steady and not so sensitive to changing conditions—a good lesson for successful investing.

Baxter donates to new wetlands project

A $2,000 donation from Baxter International in Deerfield was awarded to the Lake County Forest Preserves for restoration and improvement projects at the new Prairie Wolf Slough Wetlands Demonstration Project near Lake Forest.

The donation, from funds raised through the Baxter Employee Recycling Program, will be used to help offset project costs for wetland and prairie restoration and trail development at the 25-acre site. The donation was presented to Forest Preserve Commissioner Carol Spielman, who has been instrumental in the Prairie Wolf Slough Wetlands Project, by Baxter Chairman Vernon Loucks in honor of Baxter's celebration of the 25th Anniversary of Earth Day.

Prairie Wolf Slough is located on Rte. 22 just east of Rte. 43, and along the Middle Fork of the North Branch of Chicago River. At their March meeting, the Lake County Forest Preserve Board of Commissioners approved implementation of a two-phase concept plan for the wetlands project.

Phase one improvements include restoration of a wetland and prairie system, on-site trails and a parking lot. Phase two improvements include a north-south trail, with connections to existing community trail systems and Deerfield High School.

As part of the Chicago River Demonstration Project, the Prairie Wolf Slough Wetlands Demonstration Project is a collaborative effort between the Lake County Stormwater Management Commission, Natural Resources Conservation Service, Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, National Park Service, Urban Resources Partnership, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and many local agencies.

Phase one project costs are $275,000 and will be funded by grants from the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, Stormwater Management Commission, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the Urban Resources Partnership. Additional grants and donations are being sought for Phase two implementation.

Finance professional hiring to increase

The East North Central region of the nation can expect net hiring levels for accounting and finance professionals to nearly double in the second quarter compared to the first three months of the year, according to a recent survey of chief financial officers (CFOs).

Fourteen percent of CFOs in these states said their firms plan increased financial hiring activity, while only three percent of respondents reported plans to decrease staff. The net increase of 11 percent is up five points from last quarter. Nationally, the projected net increase in the hiring of accounting and finance staff was nine percent, a three percent increase over the first quarter.

The national poll includes responses from 1,000 CFOs who were randomly selected from U.S. companies with more than 20 employees. It was conducted by an independent research firm and developed by Robert Half International Inc. (RHI), the world's largest staffing services firm specializing in the accounting, finance and information technology fields.

"In addition to the continued strength of the automotive industry, which is having a positive effect on states throughout the Midwest, we're seeing increased hiring activity in other areas of manufacturing," said Fred Getz, RHI's president for the Chicago area. "As a result, there is rising demand for cost accountants and inventory control specialists.

"Metropolitan areas are booming," he added. "Within these large cities, service industries, such as health care and insurance, are showing steady growth."

Robert Half International Inc. was founded in 1948. The New York Stock Exchange traded firm has two major financial staffing divisions—for temporary employment, Accountemps, and for permanent employment, Robert Half. The company has more than 175 offices in the United States, Canada and Europe.

MURPHY ON REAL ESTATE

Terri Murphy

Walk through before closing

The final countdown begins as it is just days before your much awaited closing when the home of your dreams will finally be yours! Your contract offers the provision to "walk-thru" the premises 72 hours prior to the closing. This is a good time to examine just what you will be looking for before the title transfers.

The purpose of a walk-thru is to take a final look at the property and check several things. To begin with, you want to be certain there have been no major changes to the property since the agreement was signed.

You must note the "general" condition of the property. If the premises is now vacated, take a look at the walls. Inspect for damage. Check to see that the items of personal property that are to be sold with the real estate are still on the premises. It is wise to have a copy of your contract with you as a checklist of just what exactly was expected to stay with the property.

Window treatments are another item that our sometimes unclear on the purchase agreement. Oftentimes the custom blinds and vertical shades are included. Did the agreement specify ALL window treatments, or just the custom mini blinds? Generally, the outer draperies and curtains that match furniture or bedspreads are excluded from the sale. Your contract should specify just exactly what should be left in the home. Items like antique switchplates, mirrors, shelving will depend on the language of the purchase agreement.

Another factor is the property "broom clean and free of debris?" As a seller, the final moving day is hectic and exhausting. Plan ahead to have a cleaning service finish the final vacuum and "mop-up" after the traffic of the moving company has ended. Depending on your agreement, the home should not have garbage and personal items left to be disposed of by the buyers. The exterior of the home should also be a point of consideration. If the purchase is happening in the summer, the landscaping should be maintained up to closing.

The same applies for icy and snow-laden walks and driveways. The seller must maintain normal care up to and including the day of closing. Check the systems again to be sure they are in working order.

The general idea of the walk-thru will prove there are no major surprises, plus the last chance to check to be sure all was in the same or similar condition at the time the contract was written.

Don't expect the seller to fix anything that wasn't in the same condition when you bought the home. If the window in the basement has been cracked for years and you did not ask for the repair, the seller did not have to fix it.

The most important observation at a walk-thru is the occupancy. If the closing is to occur in the next few hours, the buyer will want to be sure the seller will be in the process of vacating the premises, unless other arrangements were made. For many reasons, a "walk-thru" should be an important facet of your home purchase. Check with your real estate professional or attorney for the common practices in your area.

E-mail is next major innovation for business

Just as the personal computer has redefined the workplace in recent years, advancements in electronic communications will be the next major innovation, according to a recent survey. Thirty-eight percent of senior executives named improved electronic communications as the technology that will have the greatest impact on their firm's productivity over the next three years.

The survey was developed by RHI Consulting, a leading specialized staffing service placing contract information technology professionals. It was conducted by an independent research firm, which polled 150 executives from the nation's 1,000 largest companies.

Respondents were asked, "Which of the following technologies will have the greatest impact on your company's productivity in the next three years?" The results:

Improved electronic communications	38%
Better access to databases	29%
Better software	25%
Faster computers	5%
Other/Don't know	3%

"To remain competitive, businesses are continually seeking faster and more efficient ways to communicate both internally and externally," said Greg Scilipetti, executive director of RHI Consulting. "In the past decade alone we've seen the evolution from fax machines and modems to e-mail and wireless communication."

"The use of these technologies in the workplace has resulted in critical advancements in productivity, including the formation of employee work teams to collaborate on projects from multiple locations worldwide," he said. "In addition, electronic communications tools such as the Internet and other on-line services are helping firms conduct valuable market research and reach their target audiences."

Executives surveyed also expressed confidence in better access to databases and improved software packages to enhance productivity, which, according to Scilipetti, is evidence of an increased acceptance of technology overall.

Riverboat bills afloat in capital fees

The possibility for riverboat casinos in Lake County has not sunk quite yet.

Illinois Secretary of State George Ryan introduced legislation which would grant 10 more riverboat casino licenses, including two licenses designated for Lake County.

According to Ryan's proposal, taxes raised through gambling profits would be earmarked for assisting the struggling Medicare program. A 25 percent increase in the state gaming tax aims to produce $1 billion to bail out the failing system.

Also at issue is the Riverboat Casino Referendum. The Illinois Senate had just passed a bill that would enable citizens the right to exercise their vote via referendum before any more licenses are granted. The bill, if it is passed by the House and signed by Governor Edgar, would go into effect in 1996.

The Riverboat Casino Referendum bill in effect gives people the right to decide whether riverboat casinos should be allowed in their communities. Ryan's bill, however, would automatically grant 10 new licenses and bypass the need for a referendum since the referendum bill would not go into effect until 1996. Ryan's bill would go into effect immediately.

Potential Lake County sites for riverboats include along Lake Michigan in Waukegan or North Chicago or along the Chain of Lakes in Antioch or Fox Lake. Antioch voters have previously voted down a riverboat casino along the Fox River.

Lake County Board member

Judy Martini (R-Antioch) questioned the urgency to grant more licenses before the referendum bill was voted on.

"Even though I cannot personally support gambling, I've always said that if a riverboat coming to a community makes sense environmentally, logically and economically, I would keep an open mind," Martini said.

She added, "The most important issue with the current proposal of granting 10 more licenses is that it does not allow the voters the right to decide the destiny of their communities by allowing us our constitutional right to vote on the issue before the licenses are granted."

State Senator Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) did not expect the Senate to vote on Ryan's proposal Wednesday.

"It is not too bad as long as it takes care of the Chain of Lakes, Waukegan and puts money into the schools and social services," Geo-Karis said. — by KEVIN HANRAHAN & STEVE PETERSON

Retired teachers insurance plan wins in Senate vote

Illinois Senate members approved a bill which will help solve the retired teachers' pension fund crisis.

Co-sponsored by area State Senators Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion), William Peterson (R-Long Grove) and David Barkhausen (R-Lake Forest) the bill was approved by a 55-0 vote Wednesday.

The bill raises the contribution by .5 percent of the present teachers. It gives the pension fund a $25 million increase in funds and raises the maximum to $750 a month.

State Rep. Al Salvi (R-Wauconda) had met with a group of 35-40 teachers last week in his Springfield office just before the House approved a similar measure. Some of the group members were his former teachers.

"We received more than 200 letters. It is a good cause. The state had failed to live up to its responsibility," Salvi said.

The legislation will go to Gov. Jim Edgar.

Salvi said without the funding, the health insurance fund would be insolvent on July 1.

"All state pension funds are under funded, but that is no justification," Salvi said.

He said the state is beginning to tackle some critical issues and this is just one of them," he said.

Picking up dog doo-doo was not a career dream for Glasson. In fact, his family has been rather successful. His father Rex Glasson Jr. owned a film processing business for 40 years before retiring, and his grandfather Rex Glasson Sr. was the youngest editor ever at the Detroit Journal.

I live in Lake Zurich and I can't believe the way people act around here. They open your mail box to put literature in there without stamps. First of all, it's illegal to do this, and I wish these people would wake up!

The real truth

To the voters of Wauconda: Did you always see the nice comments from Venita McConnell, campaign manager for the Unified Party, regarding the Citizen's Choice so-called yellow map preliminary land use plan that was passed out during their campaign? It is suggested

In Venita's letter the truth was that this plan was rejected. I would like to see in any board or committee minutes, that a vote was taken by trustees to reject either plan. I believe this is the actual truth. You've been beaten by your own campaign tactics, Venita. I suggest a spoonful of sugar helps the medicine go down.

You missed it

I'm calling to let the people in the Fox Lake area know that they missed a fantastic musical at Grant High School. I was fortunate enough to go on Sunday afternoon and the auditorium was half-full. These kids work their hearts out and nobody shows up. For us parents who take them to practices, we know what's going on, they keep their grades up and everything and nobody shows. You really missed something good!

Get extinct

Phil Crane is a bozo, he doesn't belong representing anybody and should be kicked out of office. He doesn't care if the spotted owl becomes extinct. He needs to become extinct.

GOP to blame

The tragedy in Oklahoma City is just terrible. It shows you just how many disgusting people there are in this country. The government really needs to be allowed to go in and squash these militias and all these gun nuts. I blame the Republicans, especially Bob Dole and Newt Gingrich, and that fat slob Rush Limbaugh, for spreading all this garbage about the president and the federal government that drives these lunatics to act out like this.

department and if they catch them trespassing, they will be arrested for damaging property.

May I suggest

This is in regard to the question the superintendent of Warren Township raised about what the people of the district wanted because of the two failed referendums. There are some very sensible solutions to the problem. First of all, any classes that are being taught at the technology campus in Grayslake, formerly Lake County Area Vocational Center, should not be taught at Warren. The behavior disorder students can be educated at the alternative school. SEDOL students can be educated at another school that is not experiencing a temporary overcrowding situation. These moves would free up many classrooms. Also, the school has purchased property at the current site for expansion. Lastly, we could cut the number of administrators. Warren Township High School.

Warren, not Gurnee

My call is in response to the 'Other solutions' response regarding Warren Township High School. In this response, they said that people in Waukegan shouldn't be going to Gurnee schools. The last time I checked, the high school was called Warren Township. In which case, those who live in Warren Township do belong in that school. Until it's called Gurnee High School, maybe this person should get their facts straight.

Signs a mess

I'm calling about all the signs at the intersection of Washington St. and Rte. 45 regarding all these new neighborhoods and new houses. I don't think they're needed and should be taken down. It's messing up the landscape and looks terrible. It's not just this intersection, either. They should all be torn down.

Don't overrun us

In response to Pritzker's request to overbuild in Round Lake bordering Ingleside and Long Lake, if Penguin Group, which is the Pritzker family, feels a moral responsibility and wishes to work with us to fit into our community rather than overrun it, why then do they do the bare minimum requirements as far as impact studies and respond to our questions with 'this has not yet been decided' and 'we've met the requirements' and still ask for zoning changes to accommodate their planned overpopulation? Please use a little common sense. Six to eight homes per acre? Come on! Any area that is suddenly overpopulated will have a negative impact on the surrounding area, impact study or not. If you wish to speak on requirements, changing zoning to accommodate greed is truly not a requirement. Concerned residents, please attend the next meeting on May 9, 7 p.m., at the Round Lake Park District.

Not asking much

I'm calling in response to 'Be responsible'. Thank God I live in McHenry County and the school that my daughter goes to will take my child back to the school if no one is there to meet her. That's called responsibility on everyone's part. I don't think it's asking too much for a child to be safe, especially in the environment we're living in now.

Parents at fault

They just announced that only a third of our high school students can read proficiently. I think this is the fault of the parents, they have babies and let their children grow up without any guidance and as long as the schools don't bother them, they don't care what their children are studying. I think it's time for people to get involved in their school system, especially here in Lake Zurich where we're at the bottom as far as the county goes.

No parochial bus

I believe in separation of church and state, as did my ancestors when they came to this country, when they were escaping religious persecution. I am against District 95 paying for parochial school busing of students.

Time is now

I have an answer to the long line concerning cheerleading sign-up. Gurnee Park District should provide a football and cheerleading program of their own. It's time that we have this because we have the money right now and have waited way too long.

Turn 'em on

I'm calling from Mundelein and after this last rainy spell, there still seems to be a lot of people who don't know to use their headlights when their wipers are on. And they also don't know that when their lights are on, they're supposed to be the headlights and not parking lights. It seems that the Secretary of State needs to do a better job of educating the public.

No advocate

I live in Wauconda and Trustee Carl Aronson, you are a nimb. You voted no to the Wauconda Boat Proposal in your neighborhood, but you didn't have the decency and consideration for the people who live near Wauconda Orchards when you voted yes to approve the Cambridge Home development in the orchards. Thank God you lost the election, you are clearly a puppet of Mayor Eschenbauch and not an advocate for Wauconda residents unless it involves your own subdivision.

Dangerous road

Sunset Drive in Round Lake needs to be closed unless it's fixed. It's in treacherous condition with potholes and everything else. I'd also like to know where the mentality comes in of removing the stop sign by the exit for the student parking lot at the high school. To remove that sign puts the kids in danger. There's also a bush that needs to be trimmed down because it's restricting the kids' view when pulling out of the lot.

Let's get going

I just got my Grayslake Times delivered and saw on the front page where it read, 'Library Lane will help users find new library'. Just maybe if the library board and administrator would get started building their library, maybe everyone in Grayslake could find it. Instead of renaming the street, I've been wondering where the heavy equipment is. Several weeks ago, there was a groundbreaking and no dirt has been turned over. Was it another public relations ploy on the part of the library board? Let's get started and build the library!

A hospital product

In last week's paper, a caller from Lake Zurich was mistaken when he or she commented on the baby care video produced by Highland Park Hospital. This video is produced by the hospital. The nurses in the video are actual nurses who work in the birthing center at the hospital and are a dedicated, caring group of professionals who wanted to help their new parents with any questions they may have. With insurance cutbacks, the average hospital stay after a typical delivery covers only one midnight stay. Therefore, the nurses felt the need for additional time to talk about the basics of newborn care. It's an excellent resource that Highland Park Hospital should be very proud of.

Stop the squeak

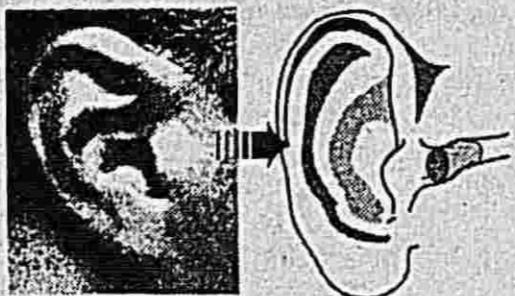

This is for the person with the squeaky brakes. An auto parts store sells two things, one is an aluminum silencer that should have been put on by the mechanics and the second thing is a paste that should be applied across the part when it's replaced. Either one is well-known to auto mechanics. I'd take the car back to the mechanic and have them do these things and you shouldn't have a problem.

How To Survive
The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: Dear Search: I have been offered a job with a company in Lake County recently and was told by the employer that I will need to bring in a copy of my Social Security card and Birth Certificate on the first day. While I am not scheduled to start work until the 1st of February, my problem is that I was born out of the United States during the time my father was stationed overseas and am unable to obtain a copy of my certificate of birth. I was told by a friend that there is a place in Chicago to get a copy of this. Do you know the name or address and telephone number? Thank you. S.M.M. - Libertyville.

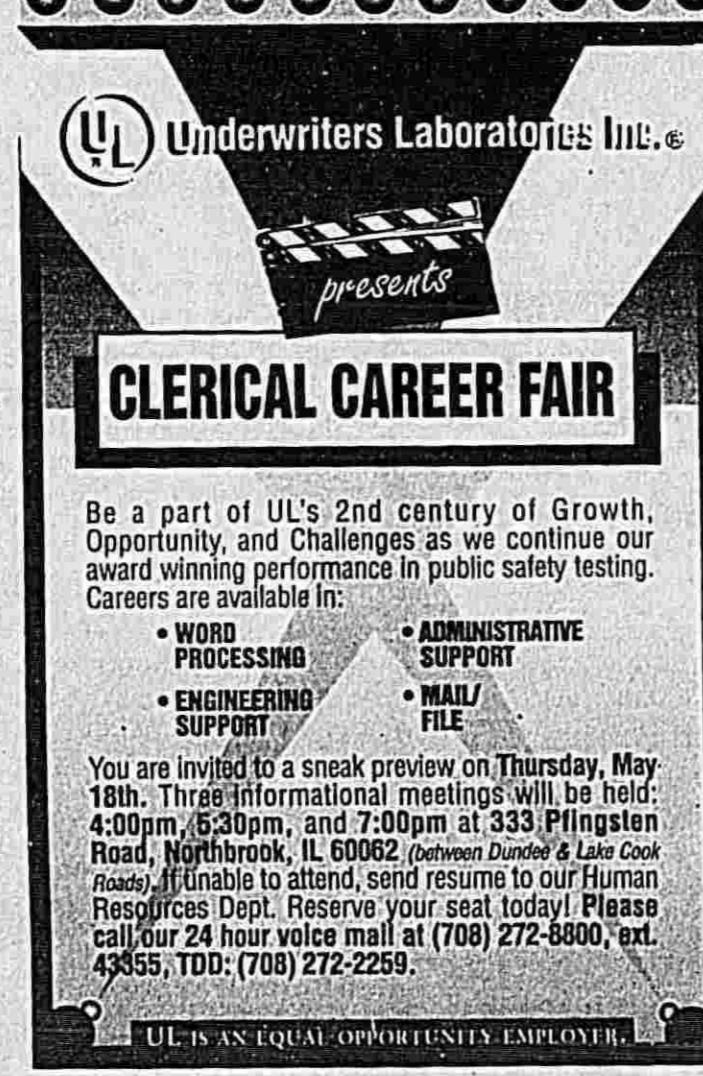

A: Dear S.M.M. The place you are referring to in Chicago is the Cook County Courthouse, where one can obtain a certified copy of their Birth Certificate only if they were born within Cook County. So in your case...this will not help. I have, however, found with much checking that in order for you to obtain a certified copy of a report of birth involving a U.S. Citizen which has taken place overseas, it is necessary for you to first write to:

Passport Services,
1425 "K" Street,
Room 386 N.W.,
Washington, D.C. 20522-1705

I am told that you will need to include a certified check or money order payable to that company in the amount of $10.00, as well as a list including your full name, birthdate, place of birth, your parents' full names at the time of birth and their citizenship. It will also be necessary for you to show your signature at the bottom of the letter. Your signature is required as a means of request authenticity. Do not forget to include a telephone number where you may be reached during the day. This should help you to obtain the certificate you need. I will further advise that I was told that this can take some time (but not outrageous), to process but do not get discouraged. It is important to always have your birth certificate handy yet tucked away in a safe place. However, since employers require the necessary I.D.'s to conform with the Federal I-9 forms upon hire, please check with your employer to see if there are other forms that they will accept (there are others allowed) so as your first day of employment will not be held up due to the time needed to obtain the certificate you are applying for. Good luck and I hope that this helps.

Special Note to H.J. - Fox Lake: Thank you for your letter. It was forwarded to me and much appreciated.

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee. Letters can be sent to Nancy at 4949 Grand Ave., Gurnee, IL 60031.

Pet Parade

Pet tips straight from the horse's -er- dog's mouth

Thank you for keeping me fenced in or in a kennel run. I really don't know much about cars and I could get hurt. Cars are so big, and I am so small.

Thank you for feeding me a comforting, healthful meal every day and making sure that I have fresh water to drink.

Thank you for getting me a license and identification tag. I don't know what those little metal tags are for, but once when I was lost and frightened, a nice lady found me and soon I was back home with you.

Thank you for having me spayed or neutered. So many puppies don't have homes of their own. They are cold, hungry and abused. I wouldn't want any of my "children" to grow up without the love I have gotten from you.

Thank you for taking me to the veterinarian for a yearly check-up and shots. Sometimes I don't seem happy about going, but I know you take me for my own good.

Thank you for taking the time to teach me to be a good pet. I like to please you and I learn quickly. Obedience classes are fun, and when we practice, I feel like I have a good job so I can earn my keep.

Thank you for keeping me professionally groomed. I really enjoy feeling clean and looking good.

Thank you for all the things you do just because you love me.

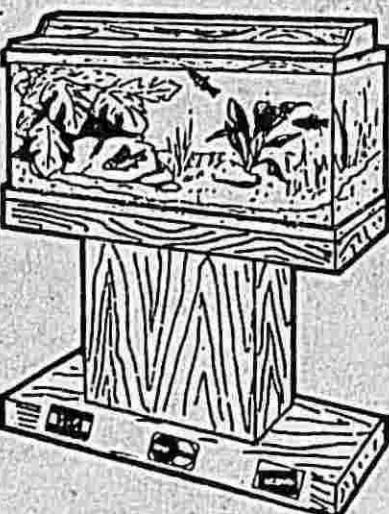

really can't say "thank you" in so many words; but when I wag my tail and give you that special look...you will know that I'm really happy that you chose me to be your best friend."

I love you!

Wheelchair athlete aims for Olympics

Competing in national track event

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

With the 1996 Para Olympics on the horizon, Sheila O'Neil hopes to burn rubber at a national track event in Hartford, Conn.

Thanks to the Adaptive Sports Program through the Special Recreation Association of Central Lake County, the 30-year-old Libertyville resident has been offered the opportunity to practice road-racing track and sprints—from a wheelchair.

O'Neil has cerebral palsy. Equipped with a specially designed three-wheel wheelchair, O'Neil has been working out and training for wheelchair track events at Mundelein High School and at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center.

She has participated in wheelchair basketball, softball and tennis, but she said track gives her a greater personal fulfillment.

"I like track because I am competing against myself," O'Neil said. "I also wanted to pursue something else that uses my upper arm strength."

O'Neil qualified to compete in the wheelchair track nationals after strong finishes at the national track trials in Canada. Just competing with other people who have disabilities lifts her spirits and confirms her belief that anything is possible, she said.

"It was exciting to see so many different kinds of disabilities competing. Blind people were competing. That reminded me that there are no limits," O'Neil said.

In the Canadian event, O'Neil scored a 1:12 in the 200, a 4:22 in the 800 and a 8:33 in the 1,500 sprints.

Proprietors at Mickey Finn's Bar and Grill in Libertyville believe O'Neil has a good chance to do well at the nationals in Hartford come August. Mickey See WHEELCHAIR page C23

Virrie paces CLC to third in tennis loop

Skyway Conference tennis teams were served notice that a certain College of Lake County freshman may be ready to make a big impact.

Mike Virrie showed that potential by winning a match at third singles at the conference tournament last weekend at Waubonsee. He actually had a part in both CLC wins as the Lancers gained third place in the tourney and conference's final standings.

Virrie downed Waubonsee 6-0, 6-0 and then lost a heart-breaker in a three-setter to Oakton. After winning the first set 6-3, he lost two sets by the same score.

"He has the most natural talent on the team. He is playing better and has to believe in himself. He has the best serve on the team," CLC Coach Lance Laverty said.

Virrie teamed with another Warren High grad, Tony Coletta, as the Lancers beat Waubonsee 6-3, 4-6, 7-6 (7-4). CLC then gave Elgin a second-set battle before losing 6-0, 6-4.

"If a team plays better in the second set, it tells me a lot about their effort to try to get a third set. It was a close match," Laverty said.

CLC finished with two points at the conference meet and 3-2 in league duals, 3-4 overall.

The Lancers, due to the third-place standing, competed in the N4C-Skyway Conference challenge.

The sectional meet at Rock Valley was May 4 held at Guilford Tennis Center. College of DuPage and Harper were favorites.

North Carolina duo carries day in marathon

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

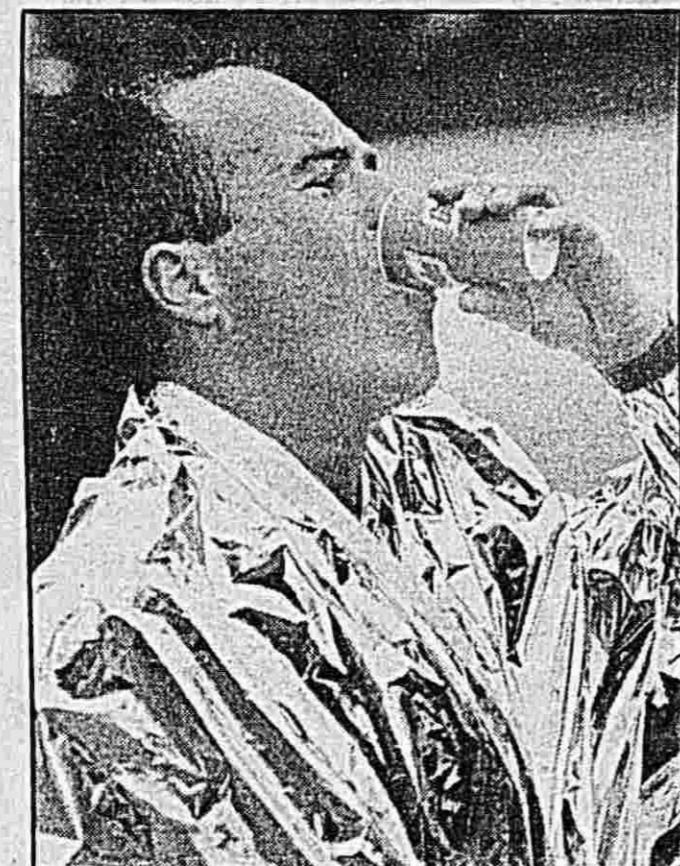

A North Carolina connection returned home with top honors at the annual Lake County Races marathons.

Mitch Craib of Greensboro, North Carolina won the 26.2 mile men's race in 2:38.02 while Christina Meyers of Wilmington, North Carolina won the women's race in 2:51.11.

"I have known Christina since the fall and she is a good marathon runner, trying to qualify for the Olympic trials. I think her chances are good," Craib said.

The opportunity to qualify for the Boston Marathon next spring and Olympic training brought a record number of race entrants to the annual Zion to Highland Park event. More than 1,000 runners reported to run in the rainy, cool weather.

Meyers, who needs to trim a minute off

Mitch Craib of Greensboro, North Carolina takes a drink after winning men's marathon race in Lake County Races. Hundreds competed in annual Zion to Highland Park run.

her time to make the Olympic trials, said she learned of the race through her coach, Craib. "He suggested it," she said. "We talk on the phone about once a week."

"I'm pleased with my race. The temperature was excellent," Craib said.

Craig is a professor at a liberal arts college in Greensboro, Guilford College. He defeated Scott Branta, age 34, of West Bend, Wis. who had a time of 2:29.49.

"It was a great race, but I need to get a minute off my time," Meyers said.

Meyers was not challenged as the second-place runner was eight minutes behind. Meyers overcame a leg cramp to maintain the lead.

She praised Craib for his efforts since the two joined forces last year. "Since he has coached me, I have knocked off eight minutes off my time. He has all the technological knowledge. I just do it," she said.

The race was a homecoming of sorts for Meyers. She was a state qualifier at Glenbard West in the mile and ran at Iowa State University. "I love the Midwest and this is a great race," she remarked.

For second-place women's finisher, Ruth Ozmon, the race was a return to the marathon circuit she left three years ago. "It felt great to be back," she said after a time of 2:59.19. Breaking the three-hour mark was important to her as she crossed the finish line.

She trains with Indiana State University runners.

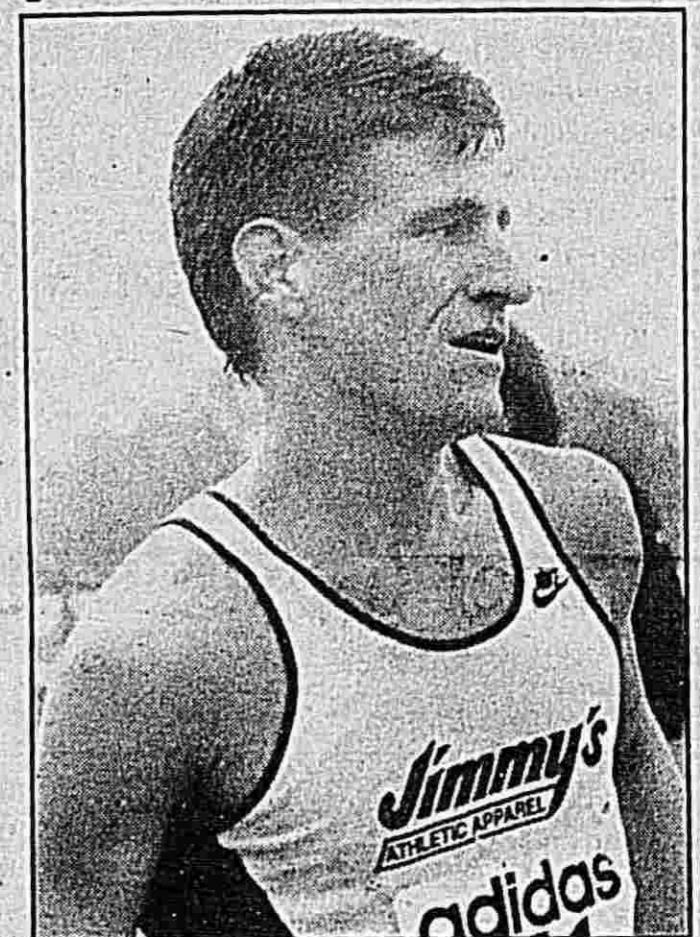

The closest to an area finisher in the top 10 was Dave Polin of Buffalo Grove. He finished in 2:37.38.

"I thought it went good. We got a break with the wind," Polin, a graduate of Niles East High and former wrestler, said.

He is getting ready for the Powerman competition in June and the World Championships in November.

Laurie Mizener of Downers Grove won the top prize in the women's 10K with a time of 3:44.1, edging Ann Schaeffers of Schaumburg.

The winner hopes to qualify for the prestigious Fryhofer event in Albany, NY this summer. Both ran Friday at the Drake Relays in Derek Olenek, winner of Lake County 10K races, relaxes after the finish. He won the race in 30:46.

Des Moines, Iowa.

"I was second at Drake, but not happy with my time," she said.

The temperatures in the 40s, wind off Lake Michigan was just balmy to her as she crossed the finish line in Waukegan.

"I like running in cold weather," she stated.

Schaeffers is striving for a 1996 Olympic trial spot.

Derek Olenek of Glendale Heights beat former champ Dan Lawson for the men's title. He completed the course in 30:44.

"I was hoping to do 31 flat or better. The temperature and weather were great," Olenek said. Training for the race was done on "killer" hills.

Lawson did not mind finishing runner-up.

"It is a great course," he said. His being chosen for the Etonic Masters group is enough of an honor, he said.

CLC's bats return as team readies for post-season

The spark on offense returned as a weapon and paced College of Lake County's baseball team to one of its two wins last week.

The Lancers actually showed signs of offense in three games, but lost a doubleheader to a strong South Suburban team, 12-8 and 8-4. The Lancers took out their frustrations of the second-half offensive woes in a 22-0 romp over a weak DePaul team and won a 3-0 pitching duel in a split with DuPage.

"We hit the ball well against two very good pitchers," CLC Coach Gene Hanson said of South Suburban.

Post-season play began May 4.

The attack was spread out against DePaul at CLC Friday. Brad Salata tied a record set by Bob Olson last year with 5 hits in one game in as many attempts. Olson had a pair of hits as did Eric Blaha. Tony Junkel had a 3-run homer in the 17-hit attack.

Pat Goodman of Mundelein

gained the win, his first in four decisions. "It made him feel good because he had pitched well in the past but did not win," Hanson said.

CLC split with DuPage on Saturday, losing 2-1 but winning 3-0. The team went back to its old ways on offense, with just 9 hits.

Bret Bowles had to leave the first game with a twinge in his arm in the fourth inning and the relief staff could not hold the Chapparals.

Scott Schupp improved to 5-1 overall with the shutout win. "He was never in trouble," Hanson said.

Rick Branaman had two RBIs and Steve Greenspan had the other.

CLC, 27-20, awaited its post-season assignment and looked to recapture last season's state final four magic.

"We have to hit the ball - that is the key. The defense has carried us, and the pitching has been fairly solid. If we hit, we have a chance," Hanson said.

Great Lakes Dragaway expands races

The new Great Lakes Dragaway in Union Grove, Wis., began weeknight racing May 2. The track will open at 5 p.m. with racing until 11 p.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday evenings. The facility is open to all vehicles for "fun" racing.

It's the opportunity for drivers to take their own daily driver vehicles down the 1/4 mile dragstrip under the safest and friendliest conditions available. There will be personnel on hand to help. Fun racing is always open to all vehicles: Race, street, beginners, junior dragsters and bikes.

Great Lakes Dragaway was purchased by RRAM Productions in January and is undergoing several facility updates. The first major events for 1995 are the NHRA Championships on May 19 to 21, followed by the 40th Olympics of Drag Racing on Memorial Day Weekend. For more information, call the dragstrip office at (414) 878-3783.

Karate students to compete in Greece

Two students from Carmel High School in Mundelein have been invited to compete in the 1995 Mediterranean Games in Thessaloniki, Greece, in October. This announcement has been made by USA Karate of Libertyville. Steven and Becky Bush, children of Mr. and Mrs. James Bush of Waukegan, will be competing.

The Bushes have studied karate for the past 2 1/2 years. Steven is a green belt and Becky is a purple belt. Both students have competed in regional and national tournaments, and Becky was a gold medalist in the 1994 Goodwill Games in St. Petersburg, Russia, last August. The Mediterranean Games will be Steve's first international tournament.

Steve and Becky will spend 10 days in Greece, competing at last four days during that time. They, along with several other Lake County students, and the head coach of Team USA, John Townsley, also of USA Karate in Libertyville, will join teammates from all over the United States to represent the country.

Finn's is sponsoring O'Neil and the establishment held a fundraiser to defray some of her travel costs. The bar raised more than $500 in her name.

"They have been absolutely wonderful," O'Neil said of Mickey Finn's owners Bill Sugars and Pat Elmquist.

Track coach Cindy Hausner also has high hopes for O'Neil.

"She definitely serves as a role model, especially being one of the adults," Hausner said.

As coordinator of the Adaptive Sports Program at SRA-CLC, Hausner also develops sports and recreation opportunities for more than 30 other youths and adults with physical and sensory disabilities.

"As an adult athlete, she brings a lot of maturity, and her desire to combine that with a professional career makes her more of a role model," Hausner said. O'Neil works as a counselor at the Lake County Center for Independent Living.

O'Neil praised programs like Adaptive Sports and organizations like SRA-CLC for providing people with disabilities the opportunity to seek their goals and dreams in athletics. SRA-CLC offers athletic programs in track, skiing, tennis, softball, water skiing and many other sports.

"When I was growing up, a lot of these sports weren't available. In the last 10 years, the number of sports available has really grown," O'Neil said. "Kids are now encouraged to join."

O'Neil is actively seeking fund-raising opportunities for her trip to Hartford in August. If she performs well at the nationals, O'Neil's long-term goal is to compete at the 1996 Para Olympics in Atlanta. Interested sponsors can call SRA-CLC at 566-2277.

Stolarick hits, pitches well as Carmel HS softball team wins over Woodlands

The batting averages of Carmel High softball players probably were not raised that much in a one-sided win Monday.

The Corsairs took a few, 20 to be exact, walks as Carmel downed Woodlands Academy 17-3.

Beth Stolarick was the winning pitcher and helped her own cause with a 2-run double.

"She has been pretty consistent at the plate. She is hitting about .550. She is a pretty reliable hitter and she hits the gaps," Carmel Coach Kay Keehn said.

Stolarick gained her third win on the mound in eight decisions as Carmel improved to 3-7 overall.

"She is getting used to our field. You have to pitch uphill a little," Keehn said.

It was hard for Carmel batters to find a groove in hitting, as they were held to 6 hits. "Their second pitcher was a lot slower than we are used to," Keehn said.

Carmel did not fare as well in Girls Catholic Athletic Conference games last week. Carmel lost to Trinity 14-7 and Good Council 12-6.

The Corsairs will host Lordes May 6 in a 1 p.m. day-after-prom game.

CLC ends losing streak, set for softball tourney

Tina Cocoran helped the College of Lake County women's softball team end a mini slump with her bat and pitching.

Cocoran gained her third win of the year as CLC downed Marquette 6-3 in the second game after losing the opener 7-1 on Monday.

"Tina kept them off balance," CLC Coach Sue Garcia said of Cocoran's 3-hit effort.

She helped her own cause with an RBI double after having a 3-hit game.

Trish DeWitt had a 3-run triple to key the 5-hit CLC attack.

"We just were not ready to play the first game. We went through the motions - that woke us up for the second game," Garcia said.

Beth Smith was the losing pitcher in both ends of a Saturday doubleheader loss to South Suburban, 4-2 and 3-2.

DeWitt and Jen Pitcher had doubles and Cocoran was 3-3 in the second game.

"She can hit the ball. A lot of her hits just go over the infiel," Garcia said of Cocoran.

Vicky Wyatt clubbed a dramatic homer which cleared an estimated 230 feet in the second game off a 1-2 pitch.

But South Suburban won 3-2 with two seventh inning runs. CLC, 14-20 overall, had key Skyway Conference tests against Oakton and Morton to finish the regular season.
